Russians Open Fourth Battle Line in South

Moscow Announces Capture of Sevsk

By JUDSON O'QUINN

LONDON, Saturday, Aug. 28. (AP)—Russian armies, already storming through two great holes in the German lines and steadily hammering at a third, opened a fourth battle center yesterday by breaking through south of Bryansk and overrunning Sevsk and twenty other localities, Moscow announced today.

The new staggering blow seventy-five miles south of Bryansk carried the driving Russians within twenty miles of the railway line linking embattled Bryansk with Kiev, key to the whole German defenses along the Dnieper river.

Sevsk fell to two Russian columns pounding in on the German stronghold from the north and south, said the Russian communiqué as broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor.

A powerful artillery and aerial bombardment finally cracked the German defenses and big Red army tanks led the crash-through into the town. More than 5,000 Germans were killed in the bitter fighting, the Russians said.

700 Germans Captured

Seven hundred Germans were taken prisoners and war material was captured when the stronghold fell, the Russians reported.

About 130 miles south of the new breakthrough, Soviet forces which supplanted the former German bastion of Kharkov Monday were said to have rolled on westward from three to five miles, crushing stubborn German opposition to charge within thirty-three miles of the Nazi base of Piltava lying astride the route to the Dnieper.

Kolleva, district center thirty-three miles above Piltava, which changed hands several times during the bitter battles, finally fell again yesterday to this column sweeping beyond Kharkov, the Russian bulletin said.

Kolleva's capture and that of Zenov, twenty miles to the northwest, brought the surging Russians back almost 500 miles from Stalingrad where the winter drive began. And the present summer offensive now has carried them over half the distance between Stalingrad and the Polish border.

Pound Nazi Bases

South and southwest of Kharkov, where the Germans are attempting to bring up fresh reinforcements, the Russians said their big bombers pounded at Nazi air bases and concentrations of tank troops.

Red army units in that area were swinging southward in an effort to cut German lines leading into the Donets basin and block all enemy transport between the two fronts.

Southwest of Voroshilovgrad, where the Russians are striking at a gap in the Germans' Donets basin lines the announcement said "our troops waged successful operations in the course of which they advanced." Red airmen also attacked the rail junction of Kramatorskaya.

Women Guards Get .38 Caliber Revolvers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Five women guards at the treasury were given .38 caliber revolvers today when they qualified on the pistol range to handle them.

Seven women have held guard jobs at the treasury for sometime, but heretofore, the gun-toting has been done only by males.

U. S. Army Nurse Gets Annulment Of "Spite Marriage" to Officer

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27 (AP)—Army Nurse Lieut. Elizabeth Thomas obtained an annulment in Baltimore circuit court today of her marriage to Lt. Walter F. Stone, army air force, after she described her wedding as a "spite" marriage.

She testified that Lieutenant Stone had married her after a ten-day acquaintance in order to show his former fiancée that "he could get a wife."

Lieutenant Stone, stationed at Hart Flying Field, Denton, Tex., married Lieutenant Thomas of Camp McCain, Miss., last May 8 in Grenada, Miss., and the Baltimore nurse said that shortly afterwards, at a dance, he told her that he never intended living with her.

Rep. Randolph Would Free Many Skilled Workers Now in the Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Release of some skilled workers from the army is necessary, Representative Randolph (D-WVa.) asserted tonight, to help relieve man power shortages in aircraft factories.

"It is more important to turn out fighting aircraft than to build a top-heavy land army," Randolph stated on his return from a three-week tour. The trip combined visits to war plants and studies of the feasibility of producing liquid fuels from coal shale and other substances.

"I found the man power situation is now very serious in essential industries, including shipbuilding," he said. "I was particularly impressed with the problems in aircraft plants. A primary weapon in winning this victory is the airplane. We have reached the point where we must make the decision whether we are going to have a top-heavy army or give aircraft plants sufficient man power."

"The sacrifices of the man in the army are great, as compared with the worker at home. But the soldier's sacrifices will be even greater if we can't give him the materials and equipment to fight with. And the services are constantly calling for more airplanes."

Randolph, a member of the Labor and Mines committee, reported that in the Los Angeles area one major aircraft plant in a recent employment period hired 1,000 workers and in the same period lost 1,500. Another airplane plant informed the congressman it was short 15,000 workers.

Randolph predicted that within ten years after the end of the war, this country will find forty to fifty per cent of its gasoline made by synthetic processes.

His prediction was based on information obtained in hearings conducted in the West by a mines subcommittee of which he is chairman.

American Army Bombers Sink or Damage 10 Subs

Attack U-Boats Far in Atlantic

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. (AP)—United States army bombers searching the Atlantic ocean as far as 1,000 miles from their home bases recently sank or damaged ten German U-boats and forced three others to stay submerged so they could not attack nearby Allied shipping, the army air force's anti-submarine command announced today.

The thirteen submarines were involved in as many separate sea-air battles, said the command, and none of the battles was previously reported. B-24 bombers specially equipped for anti-submarine warfare were used in the fights, it reported, and all returned safely, although five were subjected to severe anti-aircraft fire from the U-boats.

No dates or locations were revealed.

Five Definitely Sunk

Five of the submarines were listed as believed definitely sunk, and five as damaged if not sunk.

The anti-submarine command said a bomber piloted by First Lieut. Walter S. McDonnell of Duluth, Minn., dived through a hail of shell-fire that ripped through all sections of the plane and seriously injured half the crew but that:

"The wounded bombardier dropped his depth charges in a perfect straddle of the sub which was seen by the waist gunners to break in two in the middle near the conning tower. The rear section of the boat rose ten to twelve feet out of the water, turned over and then settled with no forward motion."

Spray Deck of U-Boat

The crew of a plane piloted by James H. Darden of Guyton, Okla., sprayed the deck of one submarine with machine gun bullets, straddled it with depth charges and caused the U-boat to explode internally, the command reported.

Second Lieut. Thomas K. Gerhart of Mansfield, Ohio, a bombardier, noticed a submarine coming up to the surface, and First Lieut. Thomas E. Kuenning of New Bremen, Ohio, piloted their plane towards it for another "kill."

"Blasted out of control," the command said, "this sub's bow rose fifteen feet out of the water at a forty-five degree angle and then slid down stern first to Davy Jones' locker."

The anti-submarine command said it believed at least fifteen men escaped from a U-boat demolished by one bomber, but "their fate was not determined."

Reduce Allowance Of Rifle Cartridges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Farmers and ranchers will be allowed only fifty rounds of .22 caliber rimfire cartridges above regular quotas this fall, instead of 100 as originally announced, the War Production Board said today.

The spokesman said that both (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Tokyo Declares Allies Cannot Recapture Burma

Plans Only "Dream," Gen. Yahagi Says

(By The Associated Press) The Tokyo radio last night quoted Maj. Gen. Nakao Yahagi, chief of the Japanese army press section, as saying that Allied air raids on Japan proper and operations aimed at the recapture of Burma "must have been two of the main items for discussion" at the Quebec conference.

Gen. Yahagi "bluntly voiced the conviction," however, said the Domei broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, that the Allies will find these two aims impossible to accomplish.

The spokesman said that both (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Sweden Prepares Protest to Nazis

Aroused by Sinking Of Fishing Vessels

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 27. (AP)—Sweden's foreign office said today that a protest to Germany was being prepared following the sinking of two Swedish fishing boats by two Nazi minesweepers—the latest in a series of incidents between the two countries.

A communiqué said the two fishing boats were sunk without warning in international waters.

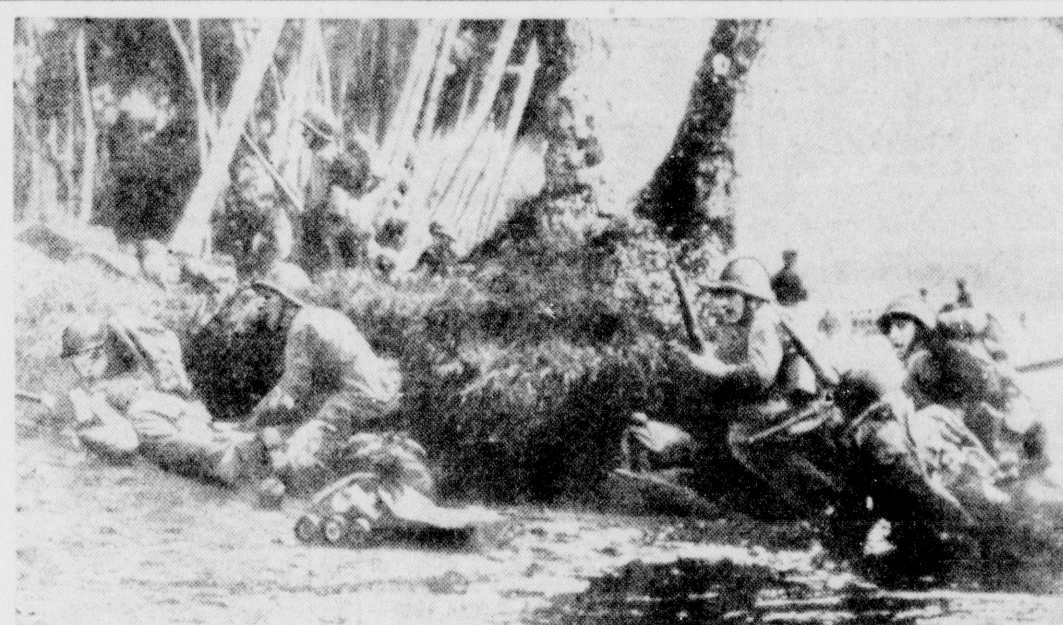

The protest, the second in ten days demanding that Germany stop attacking Swedish commercial and military interests, will be presented soon, it was said.

Twelve men aboard the two vessels were presumed lost in the incident in which five Swedish craft were assaulted off the Northwest coast of Denmark two days ago.

A formal protest was made Aug. 18 against the firing upon a Swedish naval torpedo boat and air force plane by Nazi gunners on a Norwegian freighter off the Swedish coast Aug. 6.

Meanwhile, the newspaper Aftonbladet reported that a squadron of Swedish planes flying outside of Sweden's territorial waters drew anti-aircraft fire from German warships which the squadron leader had mistaken for Swedish ships.

Bombers Smash Italian Ports In a Big Way

Little Resistance From Axis Forces

By NOLAN NORGARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 27 (AP)—American bomber armadas struck telling blows for the second consecutive day in the battle of the air-dromes yesterday in a determined campaign to drive remnants of the enemy's shattered air power from Southern Italian skies.

The flaming wrecks of German and Italian aircraft littering the pitted airfields of Capua and Grazzanise near Naples testified to the fury of the new aerial offensive.

Meet No Opposition

While fighters and bombers paraded over the Italian toe and Sardinia, other bombers smashed afresh at railway targets without meeting opposition—seemingly an indication that the German air force was no longer willing to defend these objectives and that the Allies had won the earlier battle of the railroads.

The battle of the coast, too, apparently had been won long since. British warships again three broadsides into bridges and a railway at Locri, twenty miles north of Cape Spartivento on the underside of the toe, on Tuesday night and a British cruiser bombarded the coast near the southern end of Messina strait the next afternoon without meeting opposition except from ineffectual shore batteries, a naval communiqué announced.

Italian Navy Divided

The remnants of the Italian navy had been cut in two by the Allied conquest of Sicily. One part was reported at La Spezia on the Northwest coast and the other at Taranto on the South coast.

But the Germans were still putting up a desperate defense of their airdromes and sent swarms of their fighters into battle over Naples yesterday. Fifteen of them were sent to flaming destruction in the Naples area, and four others were shot down elsewhere, bringing the day's total to 19. Allied headquarters announced. The Allies lost seven.

Gas for Troops During Furloughs Promised by OPA

Ban Also Lifted From Motorboats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—The Office of Price Administration tonight promised servicemen gas during their furloughs in the East and ordered the ban lifted from East coast pleasure boating, effective Sept. 1, bolstering indications that the no-pleasure driving clamp may be taken off Eastern motorists soon.

An OPA spokesman said, however, the liberalizing order could not be taken as official assurance that the Eastern pleasure driving ban would be lifted or that gasoline rationing for the area would be increased, but the agency was working to get the pleasure lift off before Labor Day.

May Increase Ration

There were authoritative indications that the Petroleum Administration for War might increase the East's daily gasoline allowance about 50,000 barrels next month, far more than the amount saved by the pleasure driving ban.

Under today's order servicemen on leave in the East will be granted five gallons of gasoline for travel, as they are in other parts of the country. Since the Eastern restrictions went on June 1 they have had to rely on family gasoline for driving done while on furlough.

A man or woman in the armed services may get the special ration by presenting furlough papers to a local rationing board.

OPA liberalized the East's gasoline use despite reports from PAW that gasoline consumption in the region exceeds the amount allocated.

Mrs. Roosevelt In New Zealand

Appears Wearing Red Cross Uniform

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 27. (AP)—Clad in the uniform of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived here today on a tour of American troop hospitals and Red Cross centers and immediately broadcast an appreciation to the people of New Zealand for their hospitality to American soldiers stationed here.

Later in a press conference she said, "I have seen as many of our troops as I could and visited numerous hospitals" en route.

"To all of them I carried a message from my husband x x x" telling them "what a grand job we at home think they have been doing."

Speaking of impressions of American servicemen, Mrs. Roosevelt said, "They have no illusions about the glory of war but a grim determination to do the job, do it well and see it through."

Postwar Planning

She said many women realized clearly they had their part in postwar planning. "I think the things one hears sometimes tend to be forgotten as quickly as possible because when something is disagreeable like war we often try to forget it as soon as it is over. But this (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Battle To Take Salamaua Draws Close to Climax

Ground Forces Now Storming Airfield

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 27. (AP)—The battle for the vital Salamaua air base on the North-eastern coast of New Guinea as ground forces advanced to the outer edge of the field under cover of heavy artillery fire.

General Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today said Australian and American troops were increasing their pressure on the airdrome. This followed yesterday's statement that they were within a mile of the airstrip.

(A New Guinea battlefield dispatch, delayed thirty-six hours, said the Allied jungle fighters were almost to the edge of the field and that the enemy was continuing its slow retreat.)

Salamaua Heavily Bombed

The ground advance followed another heavy bombing of Salamaua's supply depots. A force of nearly 100 bombers escorted by numerous P-38 Lightning fighters cascaded 180 tons of bombs upon Hansa bay, 200 miles northwest of Salamaua.

These raiders sank a freighter, wrecked forty-five barges, exploded ammunition dumps and destroyed ground installations. This attack followed the heavy bombings last week of another New Guinea supply base at Wewak.

There was no interception by Japanese planes but anti-aircraft fire, which diminished during the raid, was encountered. All Allied ships returned, although some were damaged.

In the Solomon Islands American troops were reported to be slowly closing in on the Nipponese at Balakoro. This garrison on the northern tip of New Georgia is made up of the only Japanese remaining on the island since the capture of the Munda airdrome on Aug. 5.

Attack Base at Vila

The enemy base at Vila on Kolombangara island across the narrow Kula gulf from Balakoro was attacked by torpedo and dive bombers escorted by fighters. Barge hideouts and gun positions were hit by twenty-four tons of bombs. Vila has been blockaded by light naval units since it was bypassed by American forces which occupied Vella Lavella island in the Northern Solomons (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Both American And RAF Planes Blast Continent

Attack upon Berlin Indicated by Radio

LONDON, Saturday, Aug. 28. (AP)—Hundreds of giant bombers that sounded like the greatest air armada of the war thundered out from British bases toward Axis-occupied Europe late last night in a swift RAF sequel to yesterday's daylight-to-dusk raids by United States Flying Fortresses and medium Allied bombers on Nazi airdromes in France.

The heavy British bombers streaked across the starlit straits in gigantic formations for two hours, possibly headed for Berlin.

London newspapers said they never had received reports of air activity so broad in scope and from such widespread areas. The reports came from points separated by scores of miles along the English coast.

Berlin May Be Target

It was an early start for the RAF. In the past this often has indicated the bombers were aiming for points deep in the continent—possibly Berlin or other big German war production centers.

No sooner had the great formations of American bombers and their escorts streamed back home—ward across the channel than Berlin and other Axis radio stations went silent, indicating that the RAF probably was resuming its heavy night blows at Berlin or other German targets.

Many Aerial Battles

The Fortresses and their escorts engaged in "many combats" with enemy fighters, the communiqué said, with the Fortresses shooting down eight and their escorts accounting for another eight.

Four of the Fortresses were missing from the raid, but the crew of one was reported safe. Seven Allied Fortresses were lost during the day's operations.

The airdromes struck by the four-engined planes were not identified in the communiqué. Watchers on the English coast said the Fortresses streamed across the channel for two hours, indicating that the German air bases and perhaps war factories in occupied France had received one of their heaviest blastings of the war.

Bomb Poix Airdrome

Earlier in the day, B-26 medium Marauders, also covered and supported by Allied Spitfires, laid heavy explosives across a German airdrome at Poix in Northern France.

The Marauders and their escorts shot down two enemy fighters for a day's total of eighteen German planes. One Marauder was reported missing.

In other operations, the British Air Ministry announced, Mustangs damaged a number of locomotives in Brittany while Spitfires shot up an enemy coastal vessel off Dunkerque. Bombers escorted by Typhoons blasted the power station at Gonaux during the evening. Three aircraft were reported missing in these operations.

German General Killed in Action

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. (AP)—The Berlin radio said tonight that Lieut. Gen. Hermann Kress had "met a hero's death in the fighting in the east."

The broadcast, recorded by United States government monitors, identified Gen. Kress as commander of an Alpine division.

New Airplane Supergas Gives Allies Edge over Axis Fliers

By WALTER WARREN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27. (AP)—Dr. Gustav Egloff said today the United States has a new airplane supergas that boosts engine power half again over that of engines burning #80-octane gasoline.

The world has known about it for seven years but never knew how to make it in quantity, Dr. Egloff, president of the American Institute of Chemists, said.

Dr. Egloff asserted the fuel would give Allied planes a superiority in speed, climbing power and lifting power that would put enemy planes as much "at their mercy as if they were roosting pigeons."

Dr. Egloff told the National Association of Manufacturers' Northern California Postwar Conference this was the first public announcement of the perfection of the manufacturing process which makes the new fuel obtainable in quantity of military significance.

The inventors, Dr. Vladimir Haensel, 28, and Professor Vladimir N. Impatoff, 73, both Russians, have had a pilot plant producing the supergas in a continuous operation for more than a week.

Haensel is a graduate of Northwestern and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Impatoff was a general during the last war, in charge of Russia's chemical indus-

Confederate Daughters To Meet--In North

NEWBERRY, S. C. (AP)—The United Daughters of the Confederacy will hold their annual convention in Ohio—and this isn't as strange as it may seem.

This is the fifth time in the last two decades that the UDC has met outside the South and the tenth time since the organization was formed forty-eight years ago. The convention meets Nov. 18-22 in Columbus, Ohio. Last year the UDC met at St. Louis, Mo.

Actually, the UDC has units in thirty-eight states and all, says Mrs. Robert Downs Wright of Newberry, president-general, are active. The UDC has some 40,000 members throughout the country.

Two Legged Bears Invade Cornfield

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Police here received a call from an irate resident who demanded that they capture a bear engaged in robbing his cornfield.

Philosophically, officers set out on the bear hunt. Inspecting the cornfield, they observed not one but three dim shapes.

"Who's there?" they demanded. When the answer came back, "nobody but us bears," the police said, they closed in. The police arrested three negro boys.

PROTECT THE SITUATION

THERE IS no point in playing a hand in a way which requires that the six missing cards of a suit be evenly divided between defenders—that is, unless there is no more likely way to make your contract. If there is a method which will work if the six hostile cards are divided four-and-two between the opponents, that is by all odds a better chance to work for. This may entail ruffing a round of the suit as a safety play, and that incidentally may necessitate having an extra entry in the dummy. If the entry can consist only of the third round of trumps, it may be better to take only two trump tricks in the beginning and save the third for later on.

It is a wise gardener who has some hay or straw on hand ready for the first early frost, since the usefulness of many plants such as Swiss chard and lettuce will continue if a protective mulch is thrown over the plants on cold nights.

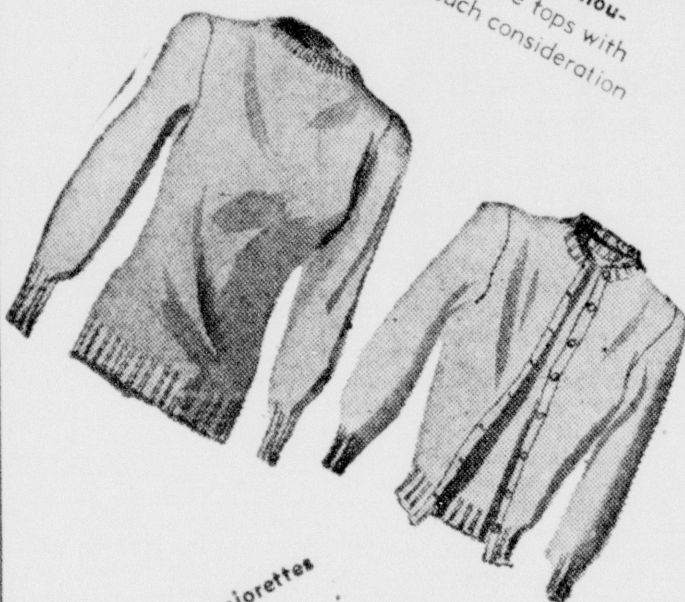

Sanitation is always important but it is especially so at this time when dead foliage and other plant debris lies about the garden. Burning the debris is the best way to prevent wintering over of plant diseases.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

Karen did not like to think about Paul. He had told her that some day in the immediate vicinity was waiting, messages to enemy submarines and causing the heavy toll of ships—but she had meant it when she had said that she hoped never it was would be caught, even if Marty somehow was connected with it although she could not think about that, either. She would, as she also had told Paul in the quarrel they had had, believe in her friend and that it no longer was possible to do so.

She allowed Buffy to have the long-promised fishing trip that had caused so much trouble and anxiety when the little boy had run away. She even allowed him to spend the night with Marty in his trailer. She knew Paul did not approve of this. Karen not only meant to live up to her promise; she kept it in order to show her faith in Martin.

Buffy came home, after his big venture, so radiant and so full of a wonderful time he had had that Karen was glad she had "stuck" her guns, much as she disliked having to go against Paul's expressed wishes. She knew now that Buffy would never feel toward Paul as he did toward Marty, to whom he gave a sort of hero worship. Only a man who could so inspire a small boy must be deserving of that admiration. For days after his last to the trailer camp Buffy could talk of nothing else and of no one except Marty. He said he wished he could go to live with Marty in his little house-on-wheels.

"And leave me and your grand-uncle!" Karen pretended to be even more hurt than she was. It did hurt a little, to think that Marty came before the boy's own relatives.

"Oh, I should come to visit you," Buffy explained, "unless you would come and live in the trailer-house. So, Karen, I told Marty I wished he could do that—and you and I—and he said he wished we could, too. You see it would be all right."

"I see," Karen felt herself blushing, foolish as that was. She wondered what else Buffy had said about her during that visit with Marty. Maybe it was time to put her small nephew straight in regard to certain matters. Long ago she had decided to tell Buffy that she was going to marry Paul, but she had put it off. Since her wedding had been put off, too, with nothing settled even now that it was spring, maybe she need not tell him yet.

"Would you really do it, Karen?" Buffy's revealing face lighted up with that inner radiance, his big eyes adding their appeal.

"Well, not right away . . . not yet, I'm afraid—at least, not for a while," Karen had to hedge a bit, wanting to put out that light as quickly. "We might visit Marty some time together, you and I—I told him he must come over soon to see us."

That would not be as satisfactory as staying all the time. Buffy said, "It's fun, living in the little house-on-wheels; I know you would like it, Karen. Besides, what will you do when Marty goes away?"

Did he say he was going away? Karen wert her heart give a peculiar twist.

The little boy nodded; the light had gone out of his face. "He said that he would have to go some time and that it might be very soon now. I said that this was because his work, he hoped, would very soon be finished."

Karen knew from the way Buffy said it that the child was repeating what Marty had said, as nearly as he could remember, word for word. Work that soon would be finished. What did that mean? It was a direct contradiction to what Marty had told her; he had said he did not have any work, that he was here only to regain his health. But she must not put too much stress on anything a child might repeat. It might be very soon, Buffy had repeated, too, which might mean that any time now, any day, Marty and the trailer might pull up stakes and be out of their lives forever.

Why should this thought make her heart contract even more painfully? She had enjoyed knowing Marty. He had been so different from any one she ever had known. He was, after all, only a friend. Only a friend . . . remembering that first kiss, when the moon had been to blame . . . only a friend, remembering that moment in the over when they had been so close, spiritually as well as physically. Memories that she could not put aside, that kept haunting her, reminding to bring anew that ecstasy. "Any one would think you were in love with the fellow!" Paul had teased the night they had quarreled over Marty.

But of course she could not be.

If You Suffer 'PERIODIC' FEMALE PAIN

With Its Weak, Cranky, Nervous Feelings

At such times you, like so many women and girls suffer from cramps, headaches, backache, distress of "irregularities," periods of the blues—due to functional monthly disturbances—start at once—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous not only for help relieve monthly pain but also for accompanying tired, weak, nervous feelings of this nature. This is because of the soothing effect on one of woman's most important organs. Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such symptoms. Follow label directions.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

As Paul also had said, she had not known Marty long enough and she still was engaged to her long-time friend. But what if time had nothing whatever to do with love, or being sensible about love, as she always had tried to be; what if she no longer was engaged to marry Paul, since spring now was here and there were no plans for the wedding?

There was no use, however, Karen told herself during days of wondering such things, in wondering. That sounded like a paradox, incredible yet true, which was what all of it—everything—seemed to be. The whole world; Paul and Eva; Marty himself. So there was no use in wondering. The only thing to do was to mark time and see what Fate had in store for all of them, that wily temptress who had caused so many things to happen, but who apparently had left them to themselves now.

In this, of course, Karen was mistaken. She did not know that it was Fate that led her down to the beach one evening to seek the solitude it offered and to listen to the roar of the ocean, hoping also to untangle some of her thoughts. If it had not been Fate, she surely would not have chosen this particular evening, this particular night, when those millions of tiny brilliant stars were hidden and the sea was high and the beach dark and deserted.

Karen had visited it so often, although not during the past few months, that she knew her way even on such a night as this. She had not even brought the flashlight that she often carried, as most people did, now that the town was blacked out after sundown. She went past the beach house to find a log that was nearer the edge of the water. She would sit there a little while, alone with her thoughts. It never occurred to her to be afraid or the least bit nervous. This was familiar ground, private strip of beach that she had known and loved so many years, all of her lifetime.

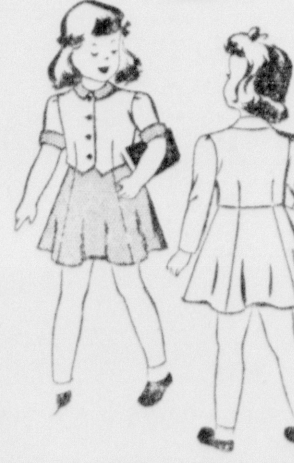

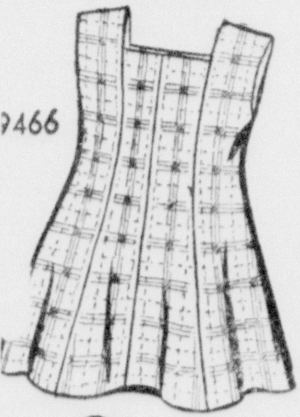

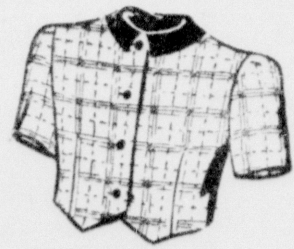

She did not know how long she sat there, half an hour, maybe a bit longer, or why she suddenly decided she had been there long enough. She had gotten what she had come for, the old serenity that came from gazing upon that vast body of water, the enormous canopy of sky overhead. She felt refreshed, renewed in spirit, as she always did afterward.

She walked slowly, head bent, back across the sand, not heading toward the path that led up the high bank, but toward the tunnel. She would see if it was locked, as Marty had advised; see if Jan had obeyed orders. If it weren't, she might go back that way, since it was shorter and because she had no fear in regard to that underground passage, either.

The deep sand swallowed any sound of her footsteps and the night was so dark that Karen was only another shadow. So was that dark object near the doorway—a clump of cactus, maybe, or a big boulder.

"Stop where you are!" The shadow straightened up into the bulky outline of a man, a man leveling a revolver straight at Karen.

Fear closed her throat now so that she could not even cry out; then the man took a step forward—as recognition came from each of them—such sharp relief that Karen felt her head whirl giddily.

"Marty!" she gasped. But what was he doing with that revolver? What was he doing lurking at the entrance of the tunnel?

"So it's you!" he said. There was relief in his lowered voice, which he kept almost to a whisper. "What are you doing here? Tell me!"

Marty demanding to know what SHE was doing, what right she had on her own private beach, when she was the one who should be doing the questioning!

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR

If it wasn't just like Marty, Karen thought, to turn tables by questioning her as to her right on her own private beach, when she was the one who should demand an explanation of his presence, not only of his presence, but of that revolver still clutched in his hand.

"Why don't you go ahead and shoot me?" she asked coolly; all panic had fled now that she knew that dark shadow was only Marty, although why he should always be lurking around her tunnel was beyond her.

He gave a short, low laugh, slipped the offending revolver back into a pocket. "I didn't know who you might turn out to be." He seemed to consider that explanation enough to satisfy her. He said again in the same lowered tone of admonition, "You know, Kay, you are not allowed on the beach after dark, even if it does happen to be a part that you consider belongs to you. No one is allowed here. Why do you think they blacked out this whole coastal territory, even dimming out the town across the bridge so there would be no lumen in the sky to show up the silhouettes of passing ships? All these rules and regulations simply have to be obeyed. Besides, it isn't safe for you, a girl, to be down here all alone."

"I'm safe now that you're here," Karen reminded him, a bit flippantly. She was the one who wanted to laugh, so as not to be too angry at his high and mighty manner. Telling HER about rules and regulations when he was the one who was breaking them. "May I ask," she made her voice coolly polite now, "what YOU are doing here then, since, as you point out, those rules have to be obeyed?"

"Sure you can ask," Marty returned almost as flippantly, "but I don't have to answer."

"You're good at that—not answering."

"I thought you said you'd take me on trust, no matter what the answers seemed to be."

She would, she did in her own heart, in his defense to others. But with this new evidence adding to all the rest, how could she help being worried? If her faith in Marty were destroyed, she would never have faith in anyone again.

"I would—if you'd let me," she said. "Oh, Marty, what is this

Walter Church, Jr., To Wed Catherine Barker Today

Ceremony Will Take Place in Garden at Home of Bride-Elect's Parents

Miss Catherine Ann Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Barker, 811 Fayette street, will become the bride of Walter Lee Church, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Church, Houston, Texas, today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2 o'clock this afternoon before an improvised altar erected in the garden at the home of Miss Barker's parents. Arrangements of lavender, gladioli and asters will decorate the altar and mark the approach. Schubert's "Ave Maria" will be played during the ceremony.

The Rev. H. T. Bowersox, D. D., pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will officiate at the ceremony. Miss Veronica Kompanek will be maid of honor and Miss Barker's only attendant. Clinton Wurzbach will serve as Mr. Church's best man.

Miss Barker, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attired in a white lace gown made on the long torso lines with a sweetheart neckline and three quarter length sleeves trimmed, in a white net pleated ruching, and a full gathered skirt. Matching ruching will trim the coronet of her lace Juliette cap, from which will fall her waist length net veil with medallions of lace. A gold and pearl sunburst pin and a single strand of pearls will be her only ornaments. Her bridal bouquet will be of white roses with a natural orchid center.

Her maid of honor will wear a gown of powder blue silk jersey, made similar to the bride-elect's, and a shoulder length veil of powder blue with small matching plumes. A bouquet of pink roses will complete her costume.

Mrs. Barker has chosen a navy blue and white costume for her daughter's wedding with which she will wear matching accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegheny high school, and was graduated with honors from Western Maryland college, Westminster, where she received her bachelor of arts degree. While there she became a member of the Argonauts Honor Society, Alpha Delta Lambda, the Vesper Choir, and the Women's Student Government Council.

She was instructor in science at Pennsylvania avenue junior high school. She is now employed as a chemist at the Celanese Corporation of America, and is a member of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Church received his degree of bachelor of science at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, College Station, Texas. He is a member of the Western Maryland Squadron 331, Civil Air Patrol and the American Chemical Society. He also employed as chemist at the Celanese Corporation of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker will entertain with a wedding reception at their home, following the ceremony. The bride's gift will be carried out in the decorations of the refreshment table which will be centered with a three tiered wedding cake. Miss Jane Gilchrist and Miss Naomi Enfield will assist in serving.

The couple will leave for a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and Houston, Texas, where they will visit the parents of the bridegroom. The bride has chosen a Shepherd's check wool suit for traveling with which she will wear black accessories.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at 782 1/2 Fayette street, after September 12.

Among the out of town guests attending will be Mrs. John Barker and son, William, Norwalk, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barker, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Charles D. Richards Weds Miss Catherine Rollene

Ceremony Is Performed in Little Rock, Ark. on August 13

Miss Catherine Rollene, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Rollene of Elmer, Md., and Pte. Charles D. Richards, Camp Robinson, Mo., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carl Richards, 859 Camden avenue, were married the evening of August 13.

The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Gloria Gray, Little Rock, Ark., classmate of the bride at Wheaton college, before an improvised altar erected in the bay window of the drawing room and decorated with palms and candelabra of tall white tapers.

The Rev. Mr. Wright, returned Baptist missionary, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Sophie Rollene, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. An assistant pastor of one of the Baptist churches in Little Rock served as Pte. Richards's best man. Miss Jean Shaw, Elmer, Mo., sang "Moonlight and Roses" and Greg's "I Love You," preceding the ceremony and the hymn, "O Jesus We Have Promised," during the ceremony. The wife of the best man played the accompaniment and also the traditional wedding march.

The bride was attired in a white embroidered taffeta gown made on the fitted long torso lines, with short puffed sleeves and full skirt and trimmed with a taffeta bow and a row of taffeta buttons down the front. Her net mits matched the net yoke of the gown. Her three-quarter-length, two-tiered veil of illusion was caught on either side with a cluster of natural white rosebuds. To complete her costume the bride carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with a center of gardenias.

Her matron of honor wore a pink taffeta gown made similar to the bride's and wore pink rosebuds on either side of her hair. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

A buffet supper was served the bride party, parents of the bride and a few intimate friends following the ceremony. The bride cake, adorned with wedding bells, centered the table and five-branch candelabra were at either end. The bridegroom's cake was boxed for the guests.

The bride is a graduate of Wheaton college, Wheaton, Ill., class of 1942. Her preparatory work was in various cities where her father served as pastor.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegheny high school, where he took part in debates; and attended Catherman's Business school, this city. He graduated from Wheaton college, February, 1943, and entered the medical corps of the army immediately following graduation. He was stationed at O'Reilly General hospital, Mo., for basic training.

Pvt. and Mrs. Richards left for a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., after which the bride will reside in Chicago, for the duration.

Georgeie Trannum Becomes Bride of John Robinette

Mrs. James B. Wigger, 434 Grand avenue, announces the marriage of her niece, Miss Georgeie Marie Trannum, to John Isaac Robinette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alston H. Robinette, LaVale.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock last evening in the rectory of St. Luke's Lutheran church, with the Rev. H. Hall Sharp, pastor, officiating, and Mrs. Wigger the only attendant.

The bride wore a two-piece cinnamon colored dress with brown accessories and a corsage of roses and gardenias.

The matron of honor was attired in a black and white costume with matching accessories.

The bride attended Pennsylvania avenue school and is employed at the Celanese Corporation of America. The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegheny high school and is employed by Donacker's Grocery store in LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinette will reside at 607 Hill Top drive.

Marshall Twigg To Be Honored at Dinner Here

Celebrating the participation of Marshall S. Twigg, fireman, with the merchant marine, in the sinking of five Japanese submarines, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Twigg will entertain with an informal dinner at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at their home, 520 Pearre avenue. The patriotic motif will be carried out in the crystal bowl of red, white and blue flowers, which will center the table.

The honor guest, who has just returned from three trips at sea, is spending a thirty-day furlough here. Although the stripes for participating in the sinking of the submarines have not been awarded as yet, Mr. Twigg is wearing the blue stripe for service in the Pacific; the yellow for serving six months on the sea; and the green and brown, for African service.

A student in Allegheny high school he joined the service March 1942 and had his basic training at Hoffman Island, N. Y., after which he was assigned to duty at San Mateo, Cal. The first ship to which he was assigned was torpedoed. He was home then for two months before being sent to sea again.

Kingsley Vacation School Closes

The daily offering of the Kingsley Methodist church Daily Vacation Bible school will be used for the missions, the Rev. Hiri A. Kester, pastor, announced in summing up the work of the school at the closing exercises last evening. The contribution of the Beginners department amounted to $4; the Primary, to $8.06 and the Juniors to $3.65. Of the seventy-nine pupils enrolled there was an average attendance of seventy-five children.

The program opened with the group singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," the salute to the American and Christian flags and the pledge of loyalty to the Bible; after which the group sang "America." The Primary department sang the offering response and worship song. Individual programs presented by each department opened with the Beginners singing three selections, "Good Evening," "Sunbonnet Sue" and "Let the Sunshine In." Carol Jean Lannon gave a recitation.

The primary departments portion of the program consisted of a rhythmic exercise directed by Miss Jacqueline Ringler; a song, "It Is Just Like God The Father"; and the entire school singing the theme song, "The Bible."

The Books of the Bible were recited by three girls and three boys of the Junior department and the Twenty-third Psalm and the One Hundred Twenty-first Psalm were repeated in unison by six boys and girls. A dramatization of the story of the "Good Samaritan," was given by the boys and the "Finding of the Baby Moses," by six girls. The program closed with the group singing of the "Lord's Prayer," after which the Rev. Mr. Kester gave benediction.

Mrs. Leona Reynolds, Mrs. Margaretie Albertson and Miss Betty Flake conducted the school with Mrs. Kester in charge of the music.

A display of the colorful handwork of the children was held and certificates were awarded.

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ. (P)—Workmen who constructed a metal ceiling years ago for the Flagstaff Journal building "bottled it up"—to the bewilderment of repairmen who remodeled it recently.

Quart bottles, inverted in a "bottoms up" manner, were found to have been set in cement, evenly spaced about every four square feet. They had been placed so the necks protruded, although virtually concealed from view, through decorative trim in the ceiling.

Present day workmen reasoned there must have been a definite purpose in the bottle pattern, because of the effort involved, but they could offer no explanation.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dutch humor, calculated to "needle" Nazi occupation forces, still flourishes throughout the country, the Netherlands Information Bureau says.

A Hollander who escaped to England recently said one of the favorite gags is to ask what Hitler and Mussolini discussed at their last meeting in Verona, and then to "reveal" that they talked about which one would flee first. The joke was current before Mussolini resigned.

Another standing joke concerns a member of the Dutch Nazi party who, as a premium for recruiting two new members, was allowed to resign himself.

A FIVE FOOT BATT OF SELECTED VIRGIN COTTON
COMPRESSED INTO A "GIANT PILLOW FOR YOUR BODY"

Sealy Holds the Magic of Transformation from a giant five foot batt of live, pure staple cotton into a buoyant Sealy "Air-Woven" Tuftless mattress. All the fleecy resilience of virgin cotton is retained in the Sealy Tuftless—making it luxuriously soft to conform to the body, yet firm enough to give proper support. "Air-Woven" comfort filling is found only in the Sealy Tuftless—which others have tried to imitate without success—for Sealy alone has perfected through more than 60 years of experience the way to make
"The Giant Pillow for Your Body".

EXPERTS SELECT RIGHT TYPE OF COTTON

Only in certain districts of Texas is it possible to produce the springy, pure staple cotton necessary for the Sealy Tuffless. Ordinary cotton does not have the special resilience and strength demanded for the exclusive Sealy "Air-Woven" process. This careful selection of cotton by Sealy experts is a highly important factor in bringing to you the revitalizing and long-lasting comfort of the Sealy Tuffless mattress.

THREE GENERATIONS OF TESTIMONY

Many an owner has slept on the same Sealy Tuffless for over 30 years—as proved by letters we have on file from all over the United States. Buying the Sealy Tuffless has become a family tradition. The experiences of the countless thousands who have purchased this truly fine mattress justify the worldwide prestige of Sealy. All these experiences of satisfied owners assure that you are getting the outstanding comfort value when you buy the same Sealy Tuffless mattress today.

VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

GRUBS BROUGHT TO SURFACE ARE WINTER KILLED

RIDGING HELPS TO MAKE THE SOIL LOOSE AND FRIABLE

8-28

Preparing Victory Garden Soil for Over-Winter

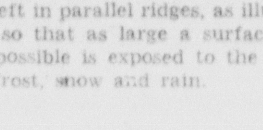

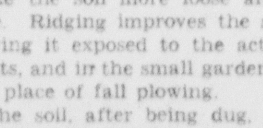

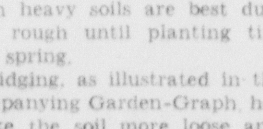

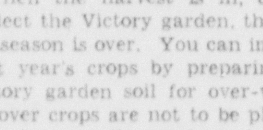

By DEAN HALLIDAY

When the harvest is in, do not neglect the Victory garden, thinking the season is over. You can improve next year's crops by preparing the Victory garden soil for over-winter. If cover crops are not to be planted, then heavy soils are best dug and left rough until planting time in the spring.

Ridging, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph helps to make the soil more loose and friable. Ridging improves the soil by leaving it exposed to the action of frosts, and in the small garden takes the place of fall plowing.

The soil, after being dug, should be left in parallel ridges, as illustrated, so that as large a surface area as possible is exposed to the action of frost, snow and rain.

Ridging also helps to bring to the surface many grubs, as illustrated, which are then killed by freezing and are eaten by the birds.

State Teachers College Holds Fortieth Annual Commencement

Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.,
Speaks; Awarded Degrees to 61 Graduates

FROSTBURG, Aug. 27.—Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker at the fortieth annual commencement of State Teachers College, Frostburg, this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, when John L. Dunkie, president, conferred degrees upon sixty-one graduates of the college.

Dr. Pullen, speaking on the problems which confront education, said the tangible problems of teacher supply, schedule adjustment, participation in war work and of the extra physical strain to teachers were not so difficult to solve as the subtle dangers inherent in the present situation.

Faith in Education

He said we are living in perilous times yet asserted he has enough faith in American education to believe that it will be the basis of our salvation in the present crisis.

Referring briefly to the criticisms leveled at the schools for failing to prepare youth for war, he asserted that education in a world at peace will naturally differ from that needed in time of war. During the depression, he said, training myriads of youth for war and war industries would have served no useful purpose.

Our youth now needs no urging to remove deficiencies in knowledge that are important in the war effort. No matter how little they know of history or politics, they are truly devoted to their country.

Warning to Youth

He warned youth against believing that, just because jobs are so easy to get now, that such a condition will always prevail.

False notions such as that "war brings good times," he continued, may gain widespread credence. The bright side of the picture, he concluded, was that teachers had in their care youth with boundless enthusiasm, devotion to country, eagerness for knowledge and leadership.

It will be the responsibility of the teachers to show youth the true destiny of the human race, he added.

Louwides Awards Diplomas

Tasker G. Louwides, president of the state board of education, awarded the diplomas to the graduates. Miss Velma Marie Richmond and Miss Harriet Brode, Frostburg, received certificates from President Dunkie upon the completion of a four-year course in music. Miss June Lee Shade Thomas, Cumberland, who was eligible for one of the special certificates, was not present.

The program also included professional march, Hollender, college orchestra; flag salute; Star Spangled Banner, audience; prayer; the Rev. C. B. Jones, pastor of the First English Baptist church, Frostburg; Ave Verum Corpus, Mozart; the Maryland Singers and college orchestra; Moonlight, Beethoven; the Maryland Singers; State Teachers College song; the college; and Recessional, The Ramblers We Watch, Becher, college orchestra.

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Forty-one men from Tucker county were accepted into the various branches of the armed forces at their final examination held in Clarksburg on Wednesday.

Glenn C. Kiser, of Parsons, was taken into the army air force for aviation aid crew training, released from active duty and transferred to the enlisted reserve corps subject to recall. Joseph R. Gooding, of Thomas, went to the reception center at Fort Hayes, Ohio.

Those accepted into the army and taking their furloughs were Carl "Bud" Painter, William S. Bergdoll, Edward Michelitch, Alfred L. Hinkle, Frank T. Polak, Richard L. Evans, Jr.; James Earl Stalnaker, Everett W. Justice, Okey A. Williams, Paul Hoult, Henry Olin Thompson, William Frank DeVilder, Wilton Lee Evans, Robert E. White, Henry R. Hull, Delbert Little, Nolan White, Robert A. Burns, Wilbert Y. Burns, Talmadge J. Root, John E. Phillips, Hilbert C. Johnson and Frank M. Kaucic.

Roy Glenwood Pennington, Howard Lee Losh and Richard Price Landry were accepted into the marine corps.

Those entering the navy were John Hank Parsons, Virgil Quinten Dumire, Wendell Lemoin Fankhauser, Shirley Woodrow Carr, Paul Robert Ghost James Judy Oung, Jack Leon Peters, Delmer Ray Canan, James Edgar Smith, Jr., Branson Guy Goff, Russell Frederick Sheets, Walter Clifford Lipscomb and Roy William Reel.

Dies in Virginia

Funeral services were conducted Thursday in Balty, Va., for Wallace Swisher, 59, former well-known Parsons grist mill owner who died of a heart attack at his home on Tuesday. He had lived in Tucker county until two years ago when he moved to Virginia.

He was born in Horseshoe Run, Tucker county, August 12, 1884, the son of John and Ella Swisher. He is survived by his wife, the former Helen Scheele, and the following sons and daughters, all at home: Lee, John David and Mrs. Frank Summerfield.

Brothers and sisters surviving are Mrs. Lloyd Nestor, Horseshoe Run; Miss Belle Swisher, Balty, Va.; Virgil Swisher, Morgantown, and Lee Swisher, Alaska.

Schools Open Sept. 7

Reardon Cuppett, superintendent of Tucker county schools, stated that the opening date of the 1943-44 school year will be Tuesday, September 7. A county-wide teachers meeting will be held in the grade school at Parsons on Friday, September 3, at 9:30 a. m. A representative from the state department, Charleston, will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Cuppett announced that the immunization for the students will be held at five centers within the county on September 13 at the Davis school at 9:15 for the students of Davis and Dry Fork schools; on September 14, at 9:15 a. m. in Thomas for the students from Fairfax and Canan; Hamrick school will be the center for the Black-fork schools and Mill Run on September 15, at 9 a. m. and the Parsons students will report at Parsons on September 13, at 9 a. m.; Clocking Creek, St. George and Clover district school will go to St. George on September 14, at 9 a. m.

The county will not have a health nurse this year and all students not yet immunized must report to the center closest to their schools.

Stelman Harper has been named as chairman of the Fairfax district for the distribution of the cards and record sheet for the schools of that district. Ira McDowell is chairman of Davis district; Jason Wolford, Blackfork district; John Walton, Clover district; Nelson A. Williams, Licking district; William Smith, Dry Fork, and Alston White for St. George district. All teachers will receive their cards from their respective chairmen.

Faculty Is Ready For Opening of Piedmont High

All Teachers except Miss Irene Taylor Will Return This Year

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 27.—All members of Piedmont high school faculty except one will return this year. Miss Irene Taylor, English teacher who joined the Waves last June, will not be replaced. Reduced appropriation from the state on the basis of enrollment last year will result in the employment of fewer high school teachers. If enrollment justifies application may be made for funds to employ additional teachers.

Miss Lucy Delsignor, who taught in the high school at Elk Garden last year, has accepted the principalship of Beryl school to succeed Miss Margaret Pinnell, who will teach at Georgetown, D. C. Miss Delsignor holds a degree from Davis and Elkins college, Elkins.

Three teachers will fill the vacancies at the Luke school when school opens Sept. 8. Miss Florence T. Howell, Barton, who taught in Garrett county last year, will succeed Walter N. Hedrick, who is in the United States Army. Miss Marie Duckworth, Westernport, succeeds Mrs. Clementine Pearce Willets, who resigned Miss Duckworth is a graduate of Frostburg Teachers college and taught at McCoole last year. Miss Gail Dunn, who taught at Rockville last year, will succeed Miss Fay McGuire, Lonaconing.

Miller Rites Held

Funeral services for Howard R. Miller, 55, husband of Flossie (Willow) Miller, who was fatally injured Tuesday evening when he was struck by a C. and P. coal train near his home at Bugtown, near Franklin, were conducted this afternoon from the Boal's funeral home, Westernport. The Rev. O. V. Rath, pastor of the Holiness church, Piedmont, officiated. Interment was in the cemetery.

Barton News

BARTON, Aug. 27.—The Barton Canteen Corps will hold its next "Health for Victory" meeting, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the high school. The topic will be "Energy Building Foods"—Our Daily Bread and Butter. The meeting will be in charge of Miss Catherine Close, instructor.

Salisbury Dairy Farmer Loses an Arm in Accident

Paul Miller Is Injured when Large Truck Side-swipes His Car

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Paul Miller, 40, who conducts a large dairy farm on U. S. Route 219 one mile south of Salisbury, while driving his car along the highway near his home, was sideswiped by a large truck going in the opposite direction, last evening. Miller had his left arm resting on the sill of the car window, and it was so badly crushed and mangled that amputation near the shoulder was necessary. During the time that elapsed from the time of the accident until he was admitted to Hazel McGilvery hospital, the injured man lost considerable blood, and he was given two transfusions.

Miller, a veteran of World War I, took over the dairy farm following the death of his father, Harvey C. Miller, about ten years ago. The patient's condition last night was described as "fair."

Will Hold Reunion

The eighteenth annual reunion and bazaar, sponsored by the pastor, the Rev. Howard T. Miller, and members of SS. Philip and James Catholic church of Meyersdale, will be held Monday, Sept. 6, on grounds surrounding the church and parsonage on High street. There will be numbers on the program to suit both old and young, in addition to a chicken dinner and a country baked ham supper, followed in the evening by square and round dancing and other amusements in the parish hall.

Recent Births

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brown, Boynton, announce the birth of a son in Wenzel hospital, August 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Staub, Shaw Mines, announce the birth of a daughter in Wenzel hospital, August 19.

Flower Show Held

Hundreds of persons visited the fall flower and vegetable show held by the Meyersdale Club Wednesday afternoon and evening in the community center. While not as extensive, perhaps, as some of the shows of past years, it was quite creditable considering unusual weather conditions and the fact that this year more emphasis was placed on victory gardens instead of flowers, and therefore, this year a display of home grown vegetables was invited and judged along with the flowers on display.

Many different varieties of flowers were exhibited, but not so many of the large show flowers, such as dahlias and gladioli. There were some unusually pretty roses for this time of year.

Charles Darrach, V. O. A. instructor of the local high school, judged the exhibits and awarded ribbons to many exhibitors.

Personal

Albert Lowry, Summit township, underwent an appendectomy yesterday.

Miller, pastor of the local church of the Brethren, with Mrs. Miller and son, David Leroy, who spent a month's vacation at the home of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Miller, Bridgewater, Va., arrived home last evening. The Rev. Mr. Miller will occupy his pulpit at the morning service Sunday, and in the evening will deliver the sermon at the closing service of the union schedule in Amity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold, Salisbury street, had as their guests this week their three daughters, all of whom are employed in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Wayne Buckle, and the Misses Elouine and Emolah Arnold. The latter had been employed during vacation and will remain at home to take up her studies in the senior class of the local high school.

Miss Mary June Wiland, employed in Washington, D. C., spent this week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Wiland, North street.

Negro Draft Dodger Acknowledges Guilt during Hearing at Keyser

Bridgeport, Conn., Man
"Having Too Good a Time" To Enter Army

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 27.—A draft dodger, James Daniels Mayo, a negro, of Bridgeport, Conn., was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner George C. Ludwig Thursday morning. The specific charge against him was "withholding present address from local draft board."

He acknowledged his guilt and was held under bond action of the federal grand jury, which is in session at Fairmont. Being unable to give bond he was taken directly to Fairmont by Deputy United States Marshal J. Petro Repep.

After his registration at Bridgeport, Mayo decided he was not ready to go into military service and to throw officials off his track, dropped his last name and went by the name of James Daniels. His ruse was successful for several months, until he landed in Philadelphia. In that city he learned that the authorities had him spotted but before he was apprehended he slipped away and enjoyed another season of roaming.

He finally reached Martinsburg, W. Va., where his identity became known and his arrest made. He was held in Martinsburg until arrangements could be made for a hearing before Commissioner Ludwig in Keyser. On Wednesday evening Deputy Marshal Repep called from Romney and made an appointment for a hearing at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening. The commissioner was on hand at the appointed time, but no marshal with his prisoner appeared nor did he appear before midnight.

Having waited two hours beyond the appointed time the commissioner went home and retired. At 1 o'clock, the phone rang and the marshal announced that he was at the office with the prisoner and would the commissioner come down for the hearing, as the marshal was due in Fairmont at 9 o'clock that morning. The commissioner dressed hurriedly and went down.

The marshal stated the case, the prisoner acknowledged his guilt, and was soon on his way to the federal court. When questioned as to why he tried to evade the draft, he said that he was having too good a time seeing the country to tie himself down to the routine of military training.

September Rains May Aid Germans On Soviet Front

Escape of Thousands Now Held Possible

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer

Expected September rains in Southern Russia offer some hope of escape behind the Dnieper river from the trap which multiple Russian columns are attempting to force southwest of Kharkov.

Holding open an escape route undoubtedly is the purpose of the furious Nazi counter-attacks on the flanks of the Red army thrusting westward north of Poltava and on the Russian forces driving southward from the Kharkov area toward Loozova. If either point fails before the rains begin, the German escape route from the Donets basin would be shut.

Crisis Seems at Hand

The crisis is that close for the Nazis in that theater, where only premature spring thaws prevented the Russians from reaching the Dnieper crossings at the peak of their last winter offensive. So long as they can hold intact the Loozova-Dnepropetrovsk rail line which is the new Russian target they have a means of wet-weather escape.

In contrast the Russian attacks both westward above Poltava and southward toward Loozova are moving over open steps. They are certain to be slowed or completely halted when the rains come, at least for a week or two, while the enemy might use the rail lines to mass forces for a counter offensive, or employ the rainy period to draw back behind the Dnieper.

Main Attack Shifted

To avert that, Russian strategy seems to have shifted the main attack in the fighting south and west of Kharkov, toward Loozova—a key junction to all German rail movements east of the Dnieper bend. The Red drive is within sixty miles or less of the junction.

It is more logical to expect a Russian southward wheeling movement to encircle Poltava from the north and west by pushing down the high ground between the Vorskla and the Goltva rivers. That well-drained ridge some thirty miles wide could be used to push southward even in rainy weather.

Poltava, the northern covering bastion for the Dnieper crossings at Dnepropetrovsk, is described by the Russians as heavily fortified. The Red thrust to Zerkov looks like the beginning of an encirclement movement to outflank it from the east and west, or to bypass it in a drive to the Dnieper.

Sixteen German Prisoners Have Brief Freedom

Only Three Who Escaped at Large

KINGSTON, ONT., Aug. 27 (AP)—Sixteen of the nineteen German prisoners of war who tunneled their way to freedom last night under the stone walls of Fort Henry were back in custody tonight, one captured by a woman armed only with a flashlight.

The greatest search ever conducted in the Kingston district was being made for those still at large. It was international in scope with United States army and coast guard detachments and civilian police patrolling along the south bank of the Saint Lawrence river.

In the largest break in Canada since twenty-eight men tunneled to freedom from a Northwestern Ontario camp in April, 1941, the nineteen men dug an elaborate tunnel under the fort's walls and upward to the crest of a small hill facing the St. Lawrence. Prison camp authorities reported that the prisoners had no help from outsiders. All who escaped in the 1941 break were recaptured except two who were killed.

A routine check was being made of the prisoners last night when a report came through from police that a man believed to be an escaped prisoner had been apprehended at Dead Man's bay, a mile and one-half from the camp. The completed check quickly disclosed that nineteen were missing.

Gertrude McDermott, a summer resident of the Dead Man's bay area, said today that she was sitting with her sister, Ida McDermott, and their brother, Dr. Francis McDermott, of Detroit, on her cottage veranda when she saw a man run up from the water and into a clump of bushes.

"I ran to the bushes with the flashlight and shouted at the German to come out," she said. "Meekly he crawled out from under the bushes, threw his hands over his head and said I come, I come." My brother grabbed the flashlight and pointed it at the prisoner while I ran into the house to call the police.

She said the prisoner told them he had lived in Los Angeles and that he had been free four hours when captured.

Remarking that a number of previous tunneling attempts were discovered by guards, an official at the prison camp said, "you can't pitch a no-run game in this guarding of prisoners. They are ingenious, and we are bound by certain restrictions which prevent us unearthing some of their attempts to escape."

Cards Drop Game To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27 (AP)—Behind the pitching of veteran Bucky Walters, the Cincinnati Reds downed the world champion St. Louis Cardinals 3 to 2 tonight.

Walters gave up two runs and eight of St. Louis' nine hits in the first four innings. Harry Walker was the only Card to get a safety after the fourth. A crowd of 20,283, the largest to witness a night game here this season, saw the contest.

St. Louis Browns Defeat Tigers 3-1

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Denny Galehouse defeated Al Newhouser tonight 3 to 1 in a meeting of the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers. Newhouser was relieved in the eighth for a pinchhitter.

Rudy York, needing four home runs in this four-game series to break his own major league record of eighteen in one month set in August, 1939, failed to hit in four attempts, striking out twice.

The Browns scored one run in each of three innings, aided by doubles by George McQuinn and Galehouse. The Tigers' lone run came in the ninth.

Indians Tounce White Sox 6-2

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians broke their virtual tie with the Chicago White Sox for third place by beating the Chicagoans 6 to 2 tonight, moving at the same time to within a half game of the idle second-place Washington Senators.

A wild pitch by Edgar Smith, scoring Mickey Rocco, who had singled and advanced on Roy Cullenbine's double, started the Indians on a three-run eighth inning that broke a 2-2 deadlock. A pass, Dick Coker's errors and Oris Hockett's single added two runs.

Racing Fan Finds War Makes Difference

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—"To the Race track quick!"

A smartly-dressed man ordered as he stepped off the early afternoon train from New York and hailed a taxicab.

Arriving at the track, the man, taking a quick look around, cried: "What's the matter? Nobody's here!"

The driver explained, not without sadness, that this year's Saratoga meeting had been transferred to Belmont Park, Long Island, because of wartime travel restrictions.

Hermar Wins Again At Wheeling Downs

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 27 (AP)—Hermar, J. H. Berry's consistent performer, became one of the few two-time winners at Wheeling Downs today when it took the second race, covering the six and one-half furlongs on a heavy track in 1:27 to pay $3.20 one of the shortest prices of the meeting.

Star Charter, ridden by P. Grant, took down the opening race, paying $6.60. The daily double combination of Hermar and Star Charter paid $11.40.

Top price for the day was $16.20 paid on Pal, ridden by J. Pannell, in the fifth.

Mrs. J. L. Englehart Dies At Home In Accident

Mrs. John L. Englehart, the former Mrs. Anna Marks Nelson, aged 68, died suddenly Friday morning at her home in Accident after an illness of several years.

She was a native of Lonaconing, a daughter of the late Louis and Margaret Marks of Lonaconing. She had been a resident of Accident for the past twenty-seven years where she was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Englehart is survived by two daughters and one son by her first marriage, Mrs. Alex Anderson, Lonaconing; Mrs. Randall Ravenscraft, Washington, D. C., and Julius Nelson, Cincinnati, Ohio; one son by her second marriage, Earl Englehart, of Philadelphia, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. Julia Corfield and Miss Margaret Marks, both of Lonaconing. Eight grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran church with the Rev. J. Wilson Harner, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery Lonaconing.

Gas for Troops

"While total petroleum stocks increased, the gasoline position remained practically unchanged," said Secretary of the Interior Ickes, PAW head, yesterday. "Consumption in the Atlantic coast area exceeded the amount certified to the Office of Price Administration as available for rationing. In the Middle West and the Southwest the same was true—more gasoline was used than our program provided for."

"If consumption is not in fact kept within the limits of current supply . . . it is obviously impossible to arrive on schedule at the inventory position which is prerequisite to the planned liberalization of the East coast."

Bracken Denies Stalin May Ask Separate Peace

Says Such Talk Comforts Hitler

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Assailing what he called "a lot of unconscious fifth columnists" who are spreading the rumor that Russia might seek a separate peace with Germany, Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, said today that such talk fostered Hitler's hope of dividing the United Nations and winning a political victory.

"It is foolish to assume that Marshal Stalin's inability to attend the (Quebec) conference or the shifting of ambassadors is any indication that Russia is going to make some arrangement with Germany," Bracken said in a press conference here.

"Insulting to Russia," he added, "that Stalin really cannot spare the time just now for conferences. It is highly insulting to Russia to suggest that she might drop out of the war."

He said Germany would be pleased to make a separate peace, but, unable to do so, had spread the rumor about Russia.

"I believe that Hitler knows from a military point of view that he can't win the war, but through political action to divide the United Nations he might escape consequences," he said. "Politically Hitler is a man of the greatest cunning and adroitness. I believe he has real hopes of dividing the United Nations and that a lot of people are unconsciously fostering that hope."

Early Attacks Hinted

The decisions at the Quebec conference, he said, would be translated in terms of action on the field of battle, and he said he rejoiced in "the complete unity of thought between the United States military and our own."

"We want to take the burden off Soviet Russia as quickly as we can; we realize what she is doing and the cost of millions of lives involved," Bracken said. "At any cost, we must do our best to take some of the load off her shoulders."

As for the Japanese, Bracken said they would have to settle for atrocities with Britain and the United States.

His Wife's Snakes So Deadly He Asks And Gets a Divorce

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Charging he lived in a "constant state of mental and physical terror" from his wife's snakes, John Hilon Stiles obtained a divorce.

Stiles charged that Mrs. Stiles kept ten to twelve rattlesnakes in the house, a Siamese hooded cobra, an African green mamba, as well as a miscellaneous collection of copperheads, water moccasins and coral snakes, all poisonous.

Stiles told the court his wife also had a nine-foot Indian python that "slithered about the plaintiff's home, necessitating him being constantly on the alert and keeping him in a constant state of mental and physical terror."

On one occasion, Stiles said, the hooded cobra got loose in the house and crawled down a hot air register. While Mrs. Stiles yanked the deadly reptile out by the tail, he stood guard with a broom.

President Roosevelt and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Airforces, had forecast important action from China six months ago, but that nothing had come of it.

"Not only the people of Japan, but the people of China well know that the majority of American planes have been smashed and destroyed at their bases at Chungking and the hinterland before they even had an opportunity to take off to appear over Japan," he was quoted as saying.

Naples, with thousands of fragmentation and high explosive bombs which hurled a spray of metal across virtually every foot of the field. The Allies proved in Tunisia and Sicily that few grounded planes escape such a deadly combination.

Meanwhile twin-engined Marauders and Mitchells gave Grazzanico airfield and its satellite landing ground just north of Naples a similar pasting.

These raids were a fitting aftermath to the terrific beating administered to the enemy at Poggia Airfield the preceding day by American heavy and medium bombers and fighters.

Rep. Randolph

Randolph said the synthetic fuel could be obtained from coal, shale, or possibly from surplus farm products.

"We can produce sixty-five to seventy gallons of gasoline from one ton of bituminous coal," he said. "Something like this must be done, for we are producing less from natural oil resources than we are using."

Randolph said he and Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) were preparing legislation to establish at least three semi-commercial plants to study the feasibility of producing synthetic liquid fuels from coal and other materials. The plants would operate under the bureau of mines.

Vella Lavella, 45 miles north of Munda, underwent six Japanese raids Thursday. American fighters shot down eleven enemy planes and anti-aircraft gunners accounted for another.

Allied planes elsewhere in the South Pacific sank a 7,000 ton freighter off Kavieng, New Ireland; destroyed nineteen barges or patrol boats near the Viti Islands, fifty miles north of New Britain, and bombed and strafed enemy dumps, gun positions and the airfield at Gasmata, New Britain.

Glenn L. Martin Heads Sportsmen

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27 (AP)—Glenn L. Martin of Baltimore was elected president today of the League of Maryland Sportsmen at a meeting of delegates from twenty-six sportsmen's organizations from all parts of the state.

Martin, founder and head of the aircraft manufacturing company which bears his name, has been one of the leading figures in the organization tentatively formed several months ago and given permanent form today.

Represented at the all-day meeting were twenty-six clubs having a total aggregate membership of approximately 32,300 persons.

Other officers named at the session, which was attended by about 100 persons, included Pat Cavanaugh of Salisbury, first vice-president; Raymond Snively of Hagerstown, second vice-president; James Barlett of Baltimore, treasurer. F. Wallace Taber of Baltimore is executive director of the organization, which will be incorporated.

Delegates approved more than a dozen resolutions, most of them dealing with conservation, but subjected them to ratification by the memberships of the local clubs before being referred to the organization's executive committee for action. They must be ratified within thirty days.

For governing purposes, the state was divided into nine districts, and delegates from each of the areas caucused to name their regional chairman, who will serve with the league's officers as members of the executive committee.

Stillwell May Serve as Deputy Under Mountbatten

American To Have An Important Post

By WILLIAM FRYE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Lord Louis Mountbatten completed his whirlwind round of conferences with top American naval and military officials today and word was circulated in informed quarters that Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell is slated to be his deputy commander-in-chief in the new Southeast Asia command.

Official confirmation was lacking, and is not expected until after Mountbatten has conferred in Chungking with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. It is known, however, that the deputy command will go to an American, and Stilwell—now commander of all United States army forces in China-Burma-India and chief of staff to the generalissimo—is said to be the choice.

Called "Vinegar Joe" Mountbatten thus would gain as his second in command a man whose devoted troops call him "Vinegar Joe," the aggressive, blunt-spoken veteran of the bitter fighting in Burma and China, fully acquainted with the complex problems of that theater, whose experience as a ground force commander would supplement Mountbatten's success as a naval and combined operations chief.

It became known also that Mountbatten will have a British chief of staff, and an American deputy chief of staff. For the latter post, speculation has mentioned Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, now commanding the United States Fifth Army in North Africa. Clark's achievements as a diplomat-soldier would seem to make him a logical choice, but working against this assignment is the fact that his present command and rank are such that a job as deputy chief of staff to Mountbatten would hardly be regarded as a promotion.

Leaves Washington Mountbatten left Washington tonight, probably to return to London before proceeding to Chungking to discuss with Chiang the relationship between the projected campaigns in Burma and the war in China. After he sees the Chinese leader, he should be able to announce the makeup of his staff and his choice for deputy commander, and to set up his headquarters—probably at New Delhi, India.

ed by Spitfires made the morning attack on the Poix airfield.

The news service added that other Spitfires returning from an offensive operation encountered a formation of Focke Wulf-109s and Messerschmitt-109s and destroyed one Focke Wulf.

Earlier, an air ministry communiqué said RAF bombers had mined enemy waters last night while naval aircraft damaged four enemy minesweepers during attacks on shipping in the English channel.

All planes returned safely, the communiqué added.

Eighth United States army air force headquarters, meanwhile, reported that the continuing Marauder raids are causing serious damage to the enemy's front-line airfields in France.

Photographs, taken during the fourth raid so far on the big Nazi fighter base at Tricqueville Aug. 26, show eighty to 100 bomb bursts on the landing field and perimeter track and between seventy and eighty in the plane dispersal area.

At least three or four hangars received direct hits.

The entire area of concealed hangars and plane servicing equipment was covered by bursts, the announcement said. The majority of shelters and hangars, including the headquarters building, "must have suffered heavy damage."

Since the Marauders began their attacks from British bases six weeks ago, they have averaged almost a raid a day. They have pounded some airfields as many as seven times.

Britons passed the third anniversary of the first big German air attack on London last night quietly with no sign of any Nazi raiders. They were apparently too busy.

Approximately 133,000,000 tons a year for the United Nations was based on figures supplied by the American Iron and Steel Institute which said current production rates were 90,000,000 a year for the United States, 21,000,000 for Britain's empire and about 22,000,000 for Russia.

The institute added, however, that accurate figures were not known for Russia, whose prewar annual capacity was 21,800,000 tons.

Bombs Cut Down Axis Production Of Needed Steel

Output Is Reduced About 25 Per Cent

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—The torrential downpour of United Nations bombs has cut Axis steel-making production about twenty-five per cent in little more than a year, industry sources disclosed today.

Present Axis output of approximately 52,000,000 tons a year doesn't even half match 133,000,000 reckoned as the aggregate yearly rate for the Allied powers, and compares with enemy annual production of about 68,000,000 slightly more than twelve months ago.

Weakest link in the Axis chain of steel-making centers dotting the European continent was listed as bomb-ravaged Italy, now thought reduced to between ten and twenty-five per cent of the 3,000,000-ton-a-year production a year ago, following air assaults on such cities as Turin, Milan, Genoa and Naples.

Output of 25,000,000 tons attributed to Germany about twelve months ago reportedly has been whittled to sixty per cent of that amount, vividly portraying bomb havoc wrought in Duesseldorf, Essen, Bochum, Duisburg, Berlin and other steel-producing cities.

Japan's facilities also were calculated to be somewhat less by now because of supply difficulties but none of the sources would hazard a guess as to how much.

Thick Whipping Idea

To whip evaporated milk, set the can of milk in a pan of cold water. Slowly bring to the boiling point and boil one minute — no longer. Cool and store the milk in refrigerator. When thoroughly chilled, pour the contents of the can into a cold bowl and whip with a spiral egg beater.

Beet Flavor

For flavoring cooked beets, add diced bacon that's been browned with diced celery. Adds a bit of crispness and quite a hunk of flavor.

LET'S HAVE A LABOR DAY PICNIC

PICNIC FARE: Mix grated American cheese with chopped stuffed olives. Make sandwiches and grill on griddle.

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
AP Food Editor

Even if Uncle Sam doesn't give you a holiday, you still can celebrate Labor Day with a picnic in the cool of the evening.

A neighborhood supper, with congenial families contributing part of the makings, assures a variety of good food and fun. The picnic spot can be a nearby park or woodland or a convenient back yard. If a grill or outdoor fireplace is available, the cooking can take place right on the spot—and that's a situation where too many cooks will not spoil the broth.

Several hands will be needed to cook steaks, chops or franks, as well as to pass out the chow and keep up with refills. Coffee tastes better when made over an outdoor fire and coffee "seconds" are now all right.

Here are some suggestions tailored for picnic fare:

HAMBURGCHOW, a thick meat-flavored vegetable chowder, is homespun and filling. Start in the home kitchen and finish over the campfire, or make entirely at home and transfer in vacuum food jars. Heat one-half cup chopped salt pork in a deep pan or Dutch oven, add one cup chopped onions, four cups cubed raw potatoes, one cup diced celery and one-half cup chopped green peppers. Simmer for ten minutes. Add three cups diced carrots, four cups tomatoes and pulp, two teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, two pounds hamburger and one cup water. Cover and cook slowly for an hour. Stir several times. Add one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon poultry seasoning and four tablespoons butter or margarine. This will serve twelve.

More Picnic Ideas:

1—Split franks halfway through, insert thin slices of cheese spread with chili sauce. Peg with pinkies and broil or brown in small amount of fat.

2—Dip chops in French dressing, brown on long-handled forks held over camp fire. Serve with corn on the cob, sliced tomatoes and toasted buns.

3—Spread chops or steak with mayonnaise lightly seasoned with mustard and broil.

4—Top baked beans in casserole with split franks or link sausages, bake until brown on the top. Cover and keep warm near camp fire.

5—Carry chilled fruit or vegetable salad to picnic in ice cream freezer. Dish up in small paper cups.

6—Stuff tomatoes with Spanish rice or macaroni and cheese. Bake and carry to picnic in shallow greased pan. Reheat over camp fire.

7—Dip chicken in salad oil and broil until tender. Serve with corn fritters browned on griddle over camp fire.

8—Make a punch by adding twice as much iced tea to iced grapefruit, lime and orange juices.

Mayonnaise Sauce

Mayonnaise-cream sauce is very good served on hot green beans, cabbage, cauliflower, spinach or asparagus. Heat together in a double boiler one-half cup each of regular vegetable cream sauce and mayonnaise. Serve as soon as heated. Use home-made or commercial mayonnaise.

Your best basic food that can be purchased without points.

Honoring the Guest

If you want to honor a guest or member of the family at dinner, press their initials into the top of the uncooked meat loaf with sliced stuffed olives, then bake. They taste good and look pretty.

Parsnips, salsify and horse radish can be left in the ground all winter. If covered over with straw to prevent the soil from freezing, the roots can be dug as needed.

Bread Slicing Hint

If we prefer to slice our own bread, we can do it more easily if we first pass the bread knife through a flame or through hot water, so that the blade becomes hot. It will then cut the freshest bread in quite smooth slices.

If an egg which you wish to boil is cracked, wrap it in waxed paper

Hard Brown Sugar

To keep brown sugar from becoming hard, see that the sugar is soft when you bring it from the store. Take it from the package and store in a Mason jar with a tight fitting lid. Screw it tight. In this way the moisture will be kept in the sugar and it will keep moist indefinitely.

That Popping Grease

When grease snaps and sputters in the frying pan, put about one-fourth teaspoon of flour in a little sifter and sift it into the hot grease and the sputtering will stop.

Only sound and high quality vegetables are worth storing. Bruised or diseased vegetables are almost certain to cause trouble if they are stored with sound produce for any length of time.

Nazi Wedding Rites Revealed in Drama

The first Nazi wedding ever to reach the screen can be seen in Columbia's "First Comes Courage", the story of the underground in Nazi-occupied Norway, co-starring Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne at the Maryland theatre.

Miss Oberon, as a Norwegian lady of means, and Carl Esmond, as a Nazi major, are the bride and groom. The entire ceremony is a grossly pagan one, with the bride and groom briskly marching down the aisle in military splendor past an armed guard of honor. The two then stand in front of the altar, which is a huge bust of Hitler and a burning urn. Instead of a Bible, there is a copy of Mein Kampf and a sword; and instead of a wedding oath, there is the Nazi philosophy to which the couple swear their allegiance. The wedding march, of course is a Nazi song of battle.

Can You Beat It? A Bow Tie Becomes Scene Thief

Scene stealers in movies have come and gone, but James Craig contends that none can compare with the one that steals a sequence in "The Human Comedy" literally right out from under his nose.

It's a bow tie, draped right across Mr. Craig's Adam's apple. And it's no extraordinary tie, at that, just a common, striped bow tie. To impress audiences with the tie's importance in the telling of the story there is a close-up camera shot of it. The camera moves closer until Craig's face is completely out of view and the tie fills the entire scene. Cameraman on the picture was Harry Stradling, who also filmed a screen-size close-up of Hedy Lamarr's lips in "White Cargo". He found that shooting Craig's tie was quite different, however. "Much less inspiring," he declared. "The Human Comedy" comes tomorrow to the Embassy theatre.

Mel Henry Named Fort Hill High Football Coach

Former Central Mentor Plans To Begin Practice Next Monday

Football practice under the direction of Melvin "Newt" Henry, whose appointment as coach was announced yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, will get under way Monday at Fort Hill high school.

"We have engaged Mr. Henry to coach football at Fort Hill," Superintendent Kopp said, "and it is hoped that the new football coach at Allegheny high will be named within a few days."

No mention was made by Kopp of Henry's successor at Central high, Lonaconing, where the former Penn Avenue high and Virginia Tech three-sport star has been in charge of basketball and intramural athletics the past four years.

Succeeds Bill Hamm
Henry, who succeeds William P. Hamm, now on the staff of the navy's Iowa pre-flight school, said that all candidates for the 1943 Sentinel squad and boys desiring to serve as student managers should report at the school gym at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Henry said he plans to stage two workouts a day. He added that he has a good idea of the ability of the few boys returning from last year's squad, having officiated in some of their games.

Port Hill's opening date is uncertain, Henry said. Dates for games with Allegheny, LaSalle, Hagerstown, Handley and Martinsburg have been listed but the first part of the schedule is wide open. Ridgely, Keyser, Romney and one or two other schools may be added.

Starred at Virginia Tech

Henry, after a brilliant career under Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, now director of athletics and basketball and baseball mentor at Fort Hill, earned nine letters in football, basketball and baseball at Virginia Tech, where he was graduated in 1938.

Returning to the Blacksburg, Va. school for graduate study during the 1938-39 term, Henry served as freshman baseball coach in 1939. He was named coach at Central high in September of that year and succeeded in making the Orange and Black a major factor in the local interscholastic sports. He clinched an aggressive and successful stay at Central by winning the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship last winter.

Industrial League Battles Postponed

Two games scheduled yesterday in the Cumberland Industrial Football League were postponed on account of weather. The Celanese Independents had been slated to meet the Kelly Guards at Campobello and the B. and O. All-Stars and B. and O. Bolt and Forge had been slated for a clash on the Rolling Mill field.

Games Tomorrow May Decide Race In Pen-Mar Loop

Brewers Can Nail Last Half Flag if Westvaco Co- operates

PEN-MAR LEAGUE STANDING OF CLUBS
W. L.	Pct.
Queen City	7 2 .778
Centerville	6 3 .667
Westvaco	8 4 .556
Rainsburg	0 9 .000

GAMES TOMORROW
Queen City at Rainsburg
Westvaco at Centerville

If the Queen City Brewers can get some co-operation from Frankie Sullivan's Westvaco tossers tomorrow afternoon, they can bring the last half championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League to Cumberland.

With the race scheduled to end a week from tomorrow, the Brewers are one game in front of the Centerville (Pa.) Reds, winners of the first half title, with Westvaco trailing the Reds by one game.

Tomorrow afternoon, Pen-Mar League action will be confined to a bargain bill at Centerville with Queen City tangling with Rainsburg in the opening game at 1:30 and the Reds opposing Westvaco in the afternoon.

Brewers Heavy Favorites
The Brewers are top-heavy favorites to defeat Rainsburg and if they come through as expected and Westvaco stops Centerville, then Queen City can get ready to meet the Reds in the championship play-off series.

However, if Centerville wins, then the race wouldn't be decided until a week from tomorrow when the Reds and Brewers are scheduled to clash on the North End Playground field here. The only way Westvaco could remain in the picture would be for Rainsburg to upset the Cumberlanders tomorrow.

Queen City has won its last two starts and three of its last four, losing only to Westvaco 3-2 and Centerville 4-3 in twelve innings in the last half. Rainsburg has lost four straight since replacing Wellersburg and has yet to limit the opposition to less than fourteen runs. Last Sunday, the Brewmen and Rainsburg met for the first time in a doubleheader with the locals scoring 14-6 and 16-4 triumphs.

Reds' Streak Broken
Centerville dropped to the runner-up position last Sunday when it lost a 6-4 decision to Westvaco in the nightcap of a doubleheader. The defeat snapped a four-game winning streak. Westvaco has captured two of its last three outings and four of its last six engagements.

The season series between Centerville and Westvaco shows the Reds with five wins and Westvaco with two. The Pennsylvanians won the first meeting 6-5, the second 6-0 and the third 1-0, dropped the fourth 7-5, came back to capture the fifth 7-4 and sixth 11-8 and then lost the last half of last Sunday's twin-bill.

"Peck's Bad Girl" Of Indianapolis Wins Swim Title

By HAROLD HARRISON
SHAKAMAK STATE PARK, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP)—Joan Foyle, the pretty 15-year-old "Peck's Bad Girl" of Indianapolis's national championship swimming team, came through in the pinch today to give the Rivers club a tie with the Multnomah club, of Portland, Ore., for the 1943 national women's swimming title at the end of the second day.

Joan was the only one of three defending national champions to retain her crown today and she did it in the 300-meter individual medley by only a whisker over Suzanne Zimmerman, of Portland. Five yards from the finish it looked as if they were neck and neck, but Joan found some unexpected reserve of strength to finish ahead in 4:35.6.

Team Race Is Close
Riviera and Multnomah tied for the team title with ten points each. Next in line was the Women's Association of New York, with eight, and then Lake Shore of Chicago, five; Medinah, of Chicago, four; Crystal plunge pool, of San Francisco, three, and the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, O., one.

The first national champion to fall was Miss Zimmerman, who was defeated in the 100-meter free-style by her teammate, the beautiful Brenda Helser, of Multnomah. Ann Curtis, of the Crystal plunge pool team was second and Miss Zimmerman third.

After Miss Foyle had successfully defended her title, Jeanne Kessler, of the Lake Shore club won the national senior platform diving title, vacated by Margaret Reinhold, of Lakeland, Fla., now a member of the WAVES who was unable to compete.

Nancy Merki Loses
The finals of the 1500 meter free-style found the defending champion, dark haired Nancy Merki, of Multnomah, taking the worst beating.

Miss Merki, who was expected to pick up valuable points for Multnomah in the metric mile, never was in the race. First place went to pig-tailed Florence Schmitt, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York. A surprise second place finisher was the blonde Mary Ann Walts, of Riviera, while Ann Hardin, also of Riviera and one of the favorites was third. Miss Merki finally wound up a bad seventh in an eight-girl race.

Baseball Chiefs Hope Stars Get Overseas Tour

Landis, Harridge and Frick Agree Trip Involves Difficulties

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Plans are being made to send two teams of major league baseball players overseas to entertain men in service after the World Series, Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis disclosed officially for the first time today, but he added a number of problems remain to be solved.

He and the presidents of the two leagues—Will Harridge, of the American, and Ford Frick, of the National—formally discussed the proposition which has been talked over with the War department in "off-the-record" parleys for several weeks.

Landis, Frick and Harridge, who form baseball's advisory council, agreed there are many difficulties to be overcome and details to be worked out, but declared further discussions would be carried on with the War department and with managers, players and baseball officials.

No 25-Man Teams
"We are hopeful the thing will go through," an announcement by the three baseball leaders said. Landis said that he did not want it construed that baseball was either optimistic or pessimistic over chances for the trip.

He said baseball had no preference as to where the players should be sent, but the council's announcement mentioned England, Africa and "the South Pacific—including Hawaii."

Landis said he would suggest "eighteen players on each team as a good figure to conjure with. It won't be a twenty-five-man team." He added that baseball would like to have every club represented, and that there had been no talk on how the trip would be financed or what transportation would be used.

Prefers To Pool Players
"All that's been suggested are two teams, representative of the two leagues—two teams playing each other," Landis pointed out. "That doesn't mean we will necessarily take players who were on the All-Star teams."

He indicated that the two league presidents would pool their players to find out who is available and anxious to go. If more than eighteen in each league are found, it would be up to the manager to decide who goes. Landis put the damper on proposals that former major leaguers now in service be included on the globe-trotting troupe by saying pointedly:

"Such players are out of our hands."

Toolmaker Wins Trapshoot Prize

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 27 (AP)—A home-town boy made good for the second time in the forty-four year history of the Grand American trapshoot today as 35-year-old Jasper Rogers, Dayton, toolmaker, captured trapdom's greatest prize, the Grand American Handicap, in a six-way shootout.

The war plant worker, who has been shooting only four years, and who once finished second in "Hunter's special" for his only former approach to the heights, broke ninety-seven of 100 from eighteen yards and then cracked forty-seven of fifty in a shootout to take the title after five others had tied him in the regular event.

Paul Wagner, Lima, O., salesman, missed fame and fortune after having it in his grasp. He dropped the last two targets off the shootout to finish one behind Rogers after leading to that point.

"C" Shift Spinners Defeat Mt. Savage
The "C" Shift Spinners defeated "Snow" Walters's Mt. Savage tossers, 4-1, in a softball game played on the Taylor field. Mt. Savage scored its only run in the third inning with Walters's timely hit driving in the tally.

The Spinners came back to count twice in the fifth on Coffman's double and then sewed up the contest in the following frame when Brown clouted a single with the bases loaded. Brown led the winners with two hits while Walters and Joyce shared the losers' two blows.

Strange Golf Course Has Tin Can Holes
MIDWAY ISLAND (AP)—Tin cans for holes and a red ball are two of the requisites that go to make up the strangest golf course of all.

Prewar airline workers, with nothing to do between planes, made themselves a golf course of pure sand. The sand had to be smoothed over by hand before a player could putt. And the players enjoyed the gallery, made up of thousands of "goonies," big, slow-moving birds resembling penguins.

Armstrong, Beaten By Ray Robinson, Hangs Up Gloves

Game Little Warrior An- nounces Retirement after Losing Bout

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Henry Armstrong was handed a ten-round beating by Sugar Ray Robinson in Madison Square Garden tonight and immediately afterward announced his retirement.

The only man ever to hold three world championships simultaneously, the game little warrior dropped every one of the ten heats to Robinson according to the Associated Press score card. Then, realizing that old Pop Time had run out on him, he announced from the ring that he was hanging up the gloves for keeps.

Scaling 140 to Robinson's 145 pounds tonight, he chased the skinny Harlem hammer all around the place, but Ray just toyed with him, bouncing backwards, moving from side to side, and piling up points with long left jabs and occasional swinging rights. None of these had Henry in danger of a knockout at any time, but merely served to keep him at a distance while Ray made sure of the victory.

Trying from start to finish, but with less far too ancient to keep step with the "jumping live" of the youngster from up-town, Henry showed throughout that the little buzz-saw had finally run down.

Fought 300 Times
Wisely, he made up his mind that it was time to call it a career. And make no mistake about it—it was a great career. It stretched over a twelve-year period through approximately 300 fights. At one time, he ran up a string of 44 straight victories, during which he won the world featherweight championship by whipping Pete Sarraf in October, 1937, took the welterweight crown from Barney Ross the following May and captured the lightweight title from Lou Ambers three months later.

He abdicated the featherweight championship voluntarily; lost the lightweight bauble back to Ambers in 1939 and finally was beaten for the welterweight honors by Fritz Zivic, in '40.

Fourth Loss of Comeback
He failed in an attempt to win back the 147 pound crown, and in 1941 decided to quit. But last year his scarred eyes headed and his weight providing no problem, he started a comeback. Tonight marked the twenty-seventh outing of that comeback campaign—and the fourth loss. But this loss was the crusher and the convincer.

Every one of the 15,371 customers in the house, who contributed to a gross gate of $60,789, knew as well as Henry that he'd reached the end of the road.

CHICAGO CUBS SCORE
3-2 WIN OVER BUCS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27 (AP)—Claude Passeau pitched five-hit ball to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight.

The Cubs clinched the game in the fourth when Ival Goodman's homer was followed by Harry Lowrey's single and Tommy Livingstone's double which scored him. The hits were clicked off consecutively.

Giants Summon Five
From Jersey City
NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—The New York Giants today summoned five players from their International League farm, the Jersey City Giants.

Outfielder Charley Mead, obtained by Jersey City from Buffalo last winter, was ordered to report to the Giants immediately. Shortstop John (Buddy) Kerr, Pitchers Bill Voiselle and Ken Trinkle and First Baseman-Third Baseman Nap Reyes all will report next spring.

St. Louis Browns Get Al Milnar on Waivers
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Al Milnar, 29-year-old southpaw hurler of the Cleveland Indians, has been obtained by the St. Louis Browns on waivers and will join them in Detroit next week.

Milnar last year won six games and lost eight and this season has only one triumph and three losses. In 1940 when Luke Sewell, the Browns' manager, was coaching the Indians, Milnar won eighteen games and lost ten. He slumped the following year when Sewell moved to St. Louis.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE (Released by North American Newspaper Alliance)

Note to Ott
Manager Melvin Ott, of the Giants, should take a few lessons from Connie Mack.

The dank and somewhat dismal climate of the cellar has affected Mel's digestive system. He longs for the sunlight of the uplands. But Mr. Mack in his able career has spent more years in the cellar than any other manager and Mr. Mack at the age of 80 or 81 is still hale and hearty.

Mel, being a serious, hard-working fellow, shouldn't take the Giant plight too much to heart. He might write Connie to find what form of oxygen mixture he uses so far below sea level.

Referred Back to Shevlin
Many years ago Tom Shevlin came back to coach a Yale football team. Shevlin's team beat Princeton and the next week was wrecked by Harvard.

Shevlin's philosophical remark is still a classic. "You can only make one lemonade out of one lemon."

In Mel Ott's case it might be that too many lemons make the lemonade a bit too sour. Everyone who knows the story understands that Ott has done the best that could be done under all the circumstances involved. Better than most would have done.

Whatever happens, he'll never finish last as often as Connie Mack has done. And Connie has also won nine pennants. He is still one of baseball's tops.

Accepting a Reprimand
We took a reprimand from our old college chum Andy Oakley the other night.

Andy was a World Series star in 1905. He has been coaching Columbia's baseball team as long as Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler was president.

"Which wasn't yesterday. 'You made a mistake in naming your two greatest pitchers,' he said. 'I mean Cy Young and Walter Johnson.'"

"These two won close to a 1,000 big league games," I suggested.

"No one else was even close. What's your pick?"

"Christy Mathewson," Andy said. "He was the best and the smartest pitcher I ever saw in more than forty years. I'll admit Matty never had as much stuff as Johnson had and he never had the incredible stamina of Cy Young. But he was the best."

"Who was the greatest ballplayer I left off?" I asked Andy.

"An Indian by the name of Sockalexis, who played with Cleveland. He could outhit Cobb, Ruth, Speaker or Jackson. He had more speed than all of them. He had the best arm I ever saw."

"What happened to him?" I asked. "W. S.," Andy said. "The triple killers. Wine, women and song. I've never heard of a song hurting anybody."

Alice Marble Says Women's Tennis Crop below Par

ORLANDO, Fla., Aug. 27 (AP)—Alice Marble, former national women's tennis champion, said today the present crop of women players "are not up to the girls of a few years back, and that's not our grapes, either."

"It isn't their fault, it's the war with no trips to Europe," she declared. "Those trips to Europe I made four of them

Radio Schedule Begins To Swing From Vacations

Vital Subjects Are Listed for the Discussion Periods

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Vacations ending, network radio again is swinging back to its fall and winter schedules. A good example comes up Saturday night in the 8 to 9 hour on NBC, where two of the regulars are due to return.

There will be Able's Irish Rose again for 8, followed at 8:30 with the start of another season by Ralph Edwards and his Truth or Consequences.

Series To End

The first series of the postwar discussion, For This We Fight, dealing with the international aspects, comes to a close on NBC at 7 with Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, and Sen. Francis Green of Rhode Island, as speakers. The theme is "Role of the United States." Next week the program will be concentrating on the national aspects of the general post-war subject.

The Spotlight bands on the Blue as displayed by Bob Crosby, will come at 9:30 from the annual harbor day celebration in San Francisco. . . . James Cagney is guest of the Bondwagon on MBS at 10:15, to play in a sketch, "Elementary, My Dear McGarry." . . . Lieut. Comm. DeWitt Shumway, hero of Midway, is guest speaker of the Navy Bulletin Board on MBS at 5 . . . The Suspense Mystery of CBS, now a Saturday feature at 7:30, will have Dolores Costello and George Sisco

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"Tell us how you won the war!" Pop, filling out all those forms!"

as the leads in "King's Birthday," a story of Denmark.

Sunday Features

Summer vacations end for more broadcasters on Sunday.
Gladys Swarthout and Deems Taylor return to their forty-five minute concert series on CBS at 5 p. m., while at 6:30 on NBC the Great Gildersleeve will be in action again.

Then on the Blue This Is Official is transferred to 12:15 p. m., after a reduction in program time to fifteen minutes, while Inner Sanctum at 8:30 gives its last serie show on this network before moving to CBS.

A Blue network half-hour at 4:30 is to be celebratory of the thirtieth anniversary of Naval aviation, with Sec. Frank Knox, and Adm. William Halsey listed as speakers.

Another special for MBS at 3:30 is on behalf of the OPA campaign against the black market, listed as Home Front Pledge. It will include Marian Anderson, Clifton Fadiman and FPA. . . . Washington on Rationing, NBC at 3, also is to deal with the black market.

Discussion Periods

In the forum schedule there is the return of the Wake Up America series to the Blue at 1 p. m. and a new roundtable discussion for NBC at 4:30 p. m. The Editors Speak. The other forums: MBS 12 noon Reviewing Stand "Progress in the Pacific"; NBC 2 p. m. Chicago Roundtable, "Meaning of the War," Dr. Lin Yutang and others.

"Tell us how you won the war!" Pop, filling out all those forms!"

IN AMERICA, A MARGARINE KNOWN AS NU-MAID HAS BECOME A TABLE FAVORITE BECAUSE OF ITS MILD, SWEET, FRESH-CHURNED FLAVOR.

GOOD COOKS USE NU-MAID WHEN THEY WANT EXTRA-FINE CAKES AND PIES. THEY ALSO PREFER IT FOR FRYING AND SEASONING.

NU-MAID IS AN IMPORTANT "ENERGY" FOOD (3,300 CALORIES PER LB.) IT IS ENRICHED WITH 9,000 U.S.P. UNITS OF THE "PEP-UP" VITAMIN "A." IT IS 97% DIGESTIBLE. . . . YOUR GROCER HAS NU-MAID. BUY A POUND TODAY.

"Yours for finer flavor" NU-MAID THE MIAMI MARGARINE CO., CINCINNATI

It requires 400,000 pounds of paint—enough to cover 7,200,000 square feet of surface—to paint a battleship.

Kelly Plant Will Go Back into Tire Production

Manufacture of Small Arms Ammunition Here Will Be Discontinued

Reconversion of Plant Is Authorized by War Production Board and the Army Ordnance Department; Change Over Expected To Be Somewhat Gradual, Company Officials Say

Reconversion of the Kelly-Springfield plant to the manufacture of tires was announced to employees of the Kelly-Springfield Ordnance plant yesterday in joint statements by Maj. E. J. Hill, commanding officer of the Ordnance plant and Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Engineering Company, operator of the plant under Ordnance department supervision.

The change over from the production of small arms ammunition which started in November 1942 to the manufacture of tires is "expected to be somewhat gradual," company officials said.

Final sanction for reconversion of the plant was announced yesterday, and Maj. Hill and Burke said it was granted because at this time the government is as urgently in need of additional tire manufacturing capacity, and especially of trained rubber manufacturing workers, as it was in need of ammunition in 1942.

Eliminates Training Period

Permission for the Kelly plant to again resume the production of tires was granted by the War Production Board and the Ordnance department, because it would eliminate the usage of critical plants and the time required to train new employees in rubber manufacturing processes with which a great many Kelly employees are now familiar.

Additional facilities are now available in other parts of the country for the manufacture of small arms ammunition and the Ordnance department has agreed that with various adjustments in schedules its requirements for the caliber of ammunition here can be met elsewhere, officials said.

Maj. Hill said the plant at Pinto will also cease production of ammunition.

Now that adequate supplies of synthetic rubber are rapidly becoming available, officials stated, there is an urgent need for additional plant capacity and trained workers to process it into tires.

Because of the nature of synthetic rubber, it requires considerably more equipment, more processing and, consequently, more man hours of labor than are needed in turning out natural rubber tires, a spokesman said. He pointed out that, meantime, a great deal of the plant capacity and skilled labor formerly devoted to tire manufacture is now engaged in production of other products vital to the war effort.

Urgent Need for Tires

In announcing that the Kelly plant will be reconverted, company officials said the government has found that because of steadily increasing demands for tires for our own military requirements and those of our allies, and because of a huge shortage of tires required for essential civilian transportation, plant facilities and labor which can most easily be transferred back to tire production are more needed for that purpose than for the continued production of ammunition.

Also affecting the decision of government departments to permit reconversion at this time, officials said, is the desire to reduce to a minimum the temporary hardships incident to changing over from one type of production to another type requiring entirely different machinery and equipment.

In other words, the officials explained the change over at the Kelly can be made now more easily and quickly than after the war ends, when industries everywhere will be competing for the necessary new equipment and supplies to get back into peacetime pursuits.

Express Appreciation

In the letters to the employees from Burke and Hill, each expressed appreciation for the "competent effort of the thousands of Ordnance plant workers" which enabled the plant to "reach and maintain" its full production quota of ammunition, meanwhile "maintaining" exceptionally high standards of quality as well as in the quantity of cartridges produced.

Following is the complete text of the letter signed by Burke:

"To Kelly-Springfield employees: After careful consideration of the nation's relative needs for munitions and rubber products, it has been decided by the War Production Board and the Army Ordnance department to permit the reconversion of the Kelly-Springfield factory back to tire manufacture.

"Since Pearl Harbor, tremendous progress has been made in the production of ammunition, so that it is now possible, by readjustments in various other Ordnance plants, to take over the additional production of cartridges now being made here, and thus permit the Kelly organization to get back into the production of tires.

"At this time, due to the rapid progress made in producing synthetic rubber, adequate supplies are

Allegany County Fails To Observe Air Raid Signal

Four Other Counties Sleep through Early Morning Test Alert

Citizens of Allegany and four other Maryland counties slept right through an air raid test alert early Friday morning as the signals hit a snag at the Cumberland Salisbury control centers, and the alarm never did get out to wardens and residents of Allegany, Garrett, Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties.

"There was no advance warning to anyone," a spokesman for Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, head of the Third Service Command, said yesterday. "We wanted as complete a test as possible at an unexpected time."

Date of Test Changed

The spokesman revealed that only three top officers in the command knew in advance that the test was coming. He added that state defense officials had requested a test for Wednesday night, but army officials refused, declaring that the information had "leaked" and army authorities had heard about it even before the order was given.

Arthur B. Gibson, chief of the local civilian defense organization, said the first he knew of the alert was when he was called by a newspaper reporter. He checked the control center and found a record in the log of the various stages of the alert. The yellow, or warning to officials, was received here at 4:50 a. m. The blue came at 5:20, the red at 5:35 and the blue at 5:50 and the all clear at 5:59 a. m.

Gibson pointed out that the woman volunteer worker, on duty at the center here at the time of the alert, is one of the best and most faithful of all the local volunteer workers. She said she mistook the meaning of the code word and thought that light signals only were being tested.

Gibson Expresses Regret

Gibson expressed regret for the misunderstanding but said that in case of a real emergency the mistake would have soon been corrected and all points notified. Dr. Robert W. Work, county defense director, was out of the city yesterday and could not be reached for a statement.

John L. Morris, Wicomico chief air raid warden, said that the Salisbury control center was unmanned and the signal was not relayed to civilian defense workers. Clark Gardner, Wicomico county civilian defense director, declared that the chief warden had not been able to get sufficient volunteers for the post for the last year. Morris said that he accepted full responsibility and offered to resign, but Gardner refused.

Lee F. Evans's Rites Are Held

Funeral services for Lee French Evans, 28, North Mechanic street, burned to death Tuesday night when the truck he was driving overturned and caught fire near Hancock, were held at 3:30 p. m. yesterday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Evans, 603 Kent avenue.

The Rev. James H. Parker, pastor of the Nazareth church, officiated. Interment was in Hillcrest burial park.

Pallbearers were Michael Shriver, Jobie Barrett, Louis Wright, Robert Wills, Keith Ryan and Joseph Dier. State police said Evans apparently lost control of the twelve-ton tractor and trailer truck on a downgrade about half a mile west of Hancock. The truck overturned and caught fire near Hancock, and the flames burned Evans beyond recognition.

MRS. ANTHONY GERDEMAN

Mrs. Eleanor C. Gerde-man, 51, wife of Anthony R. Gerde-man, 526 Riehl avenue, died at her home about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been in ill health since January.

A native of Barton, Mrs. Gerde-man was a daughter of the late John J. and Mary Martin Hannon. She was an attendant at the Cumberland Civilian Defense Control Center for eighteen months.

Surviving besides her husband are one son, Albert Gerde-man, at home; three daughters, Misses Agnes, Kathleen and Eleanor Gerde-man, at home; three brothers, William Hannon, Chicago; Joseph Hannon, Washington, D. C.; and Thomas Hannon, Cumberland; and six sisters, Mrs. Michael Carney, Washington; Misses Agnes and Loretta Hannon, Frostburg; Mrs. E. V. Coyle, Frostburg; Mrs. James Wheatley, Washington; and Mrs. Joseph Footer, Frostburg.

Funeral services will be held Monday in St. Peter and Paul Catholic church, interment will be in the church cemetery.

Special Service Planned

A service in honor of the men and women of the church in the armed services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Calvary Methodist church, Ridgeley.

EARNs GOOD CONDUCT MEDAL—Staff Sgt. Charles F. Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Valentine, 322 Reservoir avenue, Cumberland, (second from right) awaits his turn to be presented the United States Army Good Conduct Medal by Brig. Gen. H. R. Kutz, chief of military training of the Ordnance department at the Mississippi Ordnance plant, Flora, Miss. The award, coveted by the thousands of soldiers in the armed forces, was presented for fidelity and performance of duty. A review in honor of Staff Sgt. Valentine and his fifteen soldier-buddies who won the award was held on the parade ground of the Mississippi Ordnance plant in a colorful military ceremony.

George M. Leib Will Head Legion's Liaison Committee

Appointment Is Announced by Charles G. Smith, Post Commander

George M. Leib has been appointed chairman of the World War II Liaison committee of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, the American Legion, Charles G. Smith, post commander announced last night. Leib will select members of his committee and report at the next meeting of the local post.

Smith said appointment of the committee has been authorized by national headquarters of the Legion and that it was created for the following purposes:

To formulate a policy of maintaining constant relationship between the American Legion and the men and women of World War II.

To formulate plans for maintaining contact with those honorably separated from World War II.

To formulate plans to acquaint families of the men and women of World War II of the many services available to them through the American Legion.

The post commander also said Fort Cumberland Post will obtain copies of two booklets, "Fall In," which will be presented to every man and woman inducted into the armed forces here and "At Home" which will be presented to families of men and women in service.

Smith added that the new committee will work closely with the post service officer, Thomas F. Conlon, on all matters pertaining to claims of veterans of World War II. Smith also announced last night that the local post has been informed by the national adjutant that men who have been placed in the enlisted reserve corps are eligible for membership in the Legion.

The post service officer has announced that between eighty and ninety men from Cumberland have been either discharged from the army or placed in the enlisted reserve corps. The post will secure the names of these men from the secretary of the Federal Placement bureau in Baltimore and will then offer them membership in Fort Cumberland post.

Boards Will Review Classification Records

An inventory of the classification and dependency status of all Allegany county selective service registrants is to begin next week, according to local selective service officials.

The survey, part of a nationwide man power review, will include those already taken into the armed services. Objectives of the review, which will probably be completed by the end of September are:

To make available for induction every possible registrant not occupationally or otherwise deferred before men with children are called.

To disclose all cases where the registrant has not been classified in accordance with recent regulations.

To provide a basis for future calls. Responsibility for the survey rests with the local boards, officials said. All data is to be turned over to state headquarters.

Girl Falls from Horse

Lilly Emerick, 12, daughter of Clarence Emerick, Hyndman, Pa., was admitted to Memorial hospital Thursday for treatment of injuries suffered when she fell from a horse. Hospital attaches said the girl fractured her collar bone and suffered a deep laceration of the back of her head. Her condition is not serious.

Mailing of Gifts to Army and Navy Personnel Overseas Starts Sept. 15

An apprentice seaman, according to an estimate released by the Office of War Information, earns an equivalent of $1,700 a year.

The estimate, made by Rep. Patman of Texas, is based on the many advantages given members of the armed forces by acts of Congress, state laws and the Red Cross.

Cash income, at $50 a month totals $600. To this is added ration estimates at $1.50 a day by civilian standards. Barracks shelter is estimated at $10 a month.

Clothing and equipment is estimated at $170 a year and medical, dental and hospital care is listed at $100.

Savings of $63 on insurance, $32 on laundry and $28.65 on postage are based on estimates by army and navy authorities, according to the report.

Not listed in saving to the service man are such items as lower income taxes, free legal advice, preference in civil service jobs and reinstatement by the employer at the end of his service.

Naval high altitude fliers cut off the tip of one finger of the gloves they wear so they can observe their fingernails.

If the nail is the normal pink they know they are getting sufficient oxygen. When the nail becomes bluish they are becoming anoxic and must turn on more oxygen.

During its eight years of existence, the Social Security program has become the largest insurance enterprise of all time. During 1942, 45,000,000 workers contributed funds which will be credited toward monthly benefits for themselves and their families.

Up to July 1, $359,000,000 was paid out in benefits. June payments, totaling $13,600,000, were distributed to 686,346 beneficiaries, including 284,000 retired workers, 84,000 wives of retired workers, 202,000 children, 102,000 widows and 3,500 aged parents.

More than 600,000 workers, all of them 65 years old and eligible for retirement, have not claimed benefits but have continued to work, many of them in war industries, thus freeing younger men for military service.

Current unemployment benefits are of course low. In June, when only a small percentage of workers were without jobs, a weekly average of 106,256 workers received benefits totaling $5,949,584.

In June nearly 3,000,000 persons received payment for public assistance. More than two-thirds of the total were needy persons over 65; 53,800 were needy blind and 739,000 were dependent children.

Grace Church Will Have Guest Speaker

Dr. Walter M. Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist church, will be the guest speaker at Grace Methodist church at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Dr. Michael's topic will be, "Just Average."

Anniversary To Be Observed by Trinity Lutheran Church

Preliminary plans for the commemoration of the ninetyeth anniversary of the Trinity Lutheran church were made last evening at a meeting in the church hall.

Assisting the Rev. William von Spreckelsen, pastor, were Clarence Heiserman, chairman; Lawrence Smith, representing the church council; Mrs. Effie Parsons, Walter League and choir; Mrs. Jessie Welsh, Sunday school teachers, and William S. Leyhe, committee member.

Interior Is Redecorated

Two dedicatory services for new memorials and the completely redecorated interior of the church will be held as a part of the regular morning and evening worship services on September 12, the Rev. Mr. von Spreckelsen said.

The Rev. Theodore Martens, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran church, Pittsburgh, will be the speaker at the morning service beginning at 10:45 a. m. The Rev. Mr. von Spreckelsen will be liturgist and will preach at the evening service. He also will offer dedicatory prayers at both services.

The entire church has been redecorated in true Romanesque style adapted to American colonial architecture, the Rev. Mr. von Spreckelsen said. It has been painted a deep cream and trimmed in burgundy red.

The new memorials will be dedicated following their presentation to the church. These memorials include two additional steps to the organ, a set of chimes, new altar brasses including font ewer, candle holders, vases and alms basins, a sterling silver communion service and a set of red satin damask frontals for the pulpit, lectern and altar.

Banquet Is Planned

A banquet is planned for September 15. Special entertainment will be planned for the evening. Mrs. Ruth Hartman was appointed chairman of the entertainment and dinner committee.

William S. Leyhe was selected as publicity and booklet chairman. Other topics discussed were thank offering, re-consecration and decoration. The committee decided to hold the celebration the latter part of January or early February, 1944, Leyhe said.

Purgitsville Man Dies after Being Kicked by Horse

Elvin Floyd Ours's Skull Is Fractured; Succumbs in Ambulance

PURGITSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Kicked in the head by a horse Wednesday morning, Elvin Floyd Ours, 52, Purgitsville, died at 12:30 p. m. today on the way to a veterans' hospital in Washington, D. C.

Relatives said Ours's skull was fractured by the horse's kick and his right ear was partly torn off. The accident happened as Ours was hitching the animal to a plow.

Ours, who was a veteran of the First World war, was placed in an ambulance shortly after noon today to be taken to the veterans' hospital but died just two miles from his home. He was a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M., at Romney.

A son of Grant Ours, Glebe, W. Va., and the late Christina Hiser Ours, he was born at Petersburg.

Besides his father, Ours is survived by his widow, Muriel Sulser Ours; one son, Aviation Cadet Elvin Dailey Ours, Columbus, Ohio; two daughters, Misses Dorothy and Muriel Ours, at home; and two brothers, Lesin Ours, Martinsburg; and Guy Ours, Glebe.

Funeral services will be held Sunday in White Pine Church of the Brethren, Purgitsville, and interment will be in Old Pine cemetery, Purgitsville.

Ernest L. Lee Files $20,000 Damage Suit Against Keyser Man

For injuries allegedly sustained when he was hit by an auto driven by the defendant, Ernest L. Lee, locomotive engineer of this city, filed suit for $20,000 damages against John H. Frazer, Keyser, W. Va., in circuit court yesterday.

Lee charges that he was standing on the edge of the McCullen highway about two miles east of McCoolle when he was run down by the defendant's car. Among other injuries he alleges that both of his legs and his right arm were broken. The declaration also states that he has been unable to work since the accident which occurred on July 28, 1942, and has incurred large hospital and medical expenditures.

Robert MacDonald Bruce and Albert A. Doub, Jr., are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Files Suit by Tittling

Suit by titling was filed by Wila E. Twigg against Edith M. Twigg, Virginia de Lotell and Stella M. Gideon in circuit court yesterday.

Edwin M. Horchler is attorney for the plaintiff.

County Takes Step To Apply Assessment Law

Plan of District Division Ordered Filed with Tax Commission

Allegany county took its first step toward application of the new continuous assessment law yesterday morning when the board of county commissioners accepted a plan of district division submitted by Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, and ordered it filed with the state tax commission.

The new law, known as Senate Bill No. 215 and enacted at the recent legislative session, directs that the county be divided into five assessment sections, one of which will be reassessed each year. A district may be changed from one section to another provided the section has not been worked. Once it has been reassessed, however, it must remain so for the five year period.

Schedule Worked Out

The assessment schedule, worked out by Assessment Supervisor Nicholson and R. Mason Hill and R. Claude Woodard, of the county assessment department, follows:

FIRST YEAR, 1944: Districts—(1) Orleans, (2) Oldtown, (3) Flintstone, (16) Spring Gap, (20) Ellersville and Corriganville, (21) Gross, (29) LaVale and (33) Kifer. Total real estate basis, $6,903,760 and total number of accounts, 3,449.

SECOND YEAR, 1945: Districts—(4) South Cumberland, (22) East Side Cumberland and (23) East Side Cumberland. Total real estate basis, $20,818,056 and total number of accounts, 4,856.

THIRD YEAR, 1946: Districts—(5) North Cumberland, (6) West Side Cumberland and (14) Central section of Cumberland. Total real estate value, $29,883,511 and total number of accounts, 4,237.

Fourth Year

FOURTH YEAR, 1947: Second tax collection district. Districts—(11) Frostburg, (12) Frostburg, (13) Mt. Savage, (17) Vale Summit, (24) Eckhart, (26) Frostburg, (28) Frostburg, (30) Zihlman and (32) Frostburg. Total real estate value, $6,758,310 and total number of accounts, 2,903.

FIFTH YEAR, 1948: Districts—(7) Rawlings, (8) Westport, (10) Lonaconing, (15) Lonaconing, (18) Midland, (19) Borden Shaft, (25) Pekin, (27) Gilmore, and (31) Mt. Coole. Total real estate basis, $7,932,225 and total number of accounts, 3,667.

Twelve applications for positions of assessors were received by the board of commissioners and submitted to the state tax commission for examination and grading.

ENTHUSIASM NEEDED, HEISEY ASSERTS AT TEACHERS' MEETING

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill high school, asserted yesterday that teachers need more enthusiasm for their vocation as teachers of the nation's future citizens.

The local educator was one of the speakers at a symposium of county educational leaders at State Teachers college, Frostburg, held by the Institute of Professional and Public Relations.

Heisey pointed out the correlation between the teacher's high professional status and the spirit with which the teacher should perform the daily tasks.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, assistant county superintendent, proposed a greatly augmented curriculum in physical education.

Mrs. H. Reford Aldridge, Frostburg P-TA representative, outlined the goals of achievement to be obtained through co-operation between parents and teachers.

Other speakers were Miss A. Drucilla Worthington, Frederick county elementary supervisor; Miss Velon Swauger and Miss Sarah Jones, elementary teachers, and Miss Dorothy W. Shires, principal of the West Side school.

Dr. Arnold Edward Joyal, University of Maryland, summarized the findings of the discussion. The afternoon session ended with a address by Dr. T. D. Martin of the NEA. President John L. Dunkle was director of the symposium.

Textile Union Appoints Postwar Planning Group

John G. Thomas, business manager, was appointed chairman of the Postwar Planning committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, Walter R. Walter president, announced last evening.

The committee, Walters said, will co-operate with civic and other labor organizations to bring to the attention of city, state and national authorities the plans which must be made for the postwar period.

Other members of the committee are Playford S. Aldridge, Lester Mull, John E. Neal, A. A. Albright, Oscar Blake, Neal Tooley, William E. Meagher, Edward VanMete, Frank Schriever, Alvin Ranki, George Sommerkamp, Joseph Nola, Andrew Wilson, John Estes, Gilbe Lewis and Sylvester Butts.
